Pitchess declares war on youthful gang violence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gang violence has become an epidemic in Los Angeles County, says Sheriff Peter Pitchess, with innocent bystanders and the public at large the major victims.

Pitchess said the youthful crime wave has become so great the sheriff's department has put together a special 50-man team of veteran officers that will work exclusively on youth violence.

He told a news conference Thursday that youths under 18 were responsible for 45 per cent of all major felony arrests in the county last year and that about 20 per cent of all murders in the area are gang-related.

Pitchess said there are about 100 gangs with about 30,000 members in areas under the sheriff's department jurisdiction but that victims of the violence are not limited to members.

"Gang violence has been so indiscriminate that fully one-third of its victims over the past two years have been innocent bystanders," he said.

"They were men, women and — in many cases — small children carrying on everyday activities."

Unprovoked attacks, including carloads of young hoodlums cruising streets in neighborhoods of rival gangs and shooting at random into homes, has forced families to watch television sitting on floors and sleep in basements to evade bullets, Pitchess said.

He said one study showed an urban American boy born in 1974 faced a greater likelihood of being murdered than the chance an American soldier in World War II faced dying during combat. And he said another showed regardless of race or sex that teenaged youths were more likely to become victims of crime than adults.

Pitchess said young gang leaders have been identified and can expect visits from deputies with a message:

They can stop violent and illegal gang activities, devoting their time and energy elsewhere. Or they can face what Pitchess promised will be stern action.

"This program will last as long as violence lasts. What we want to accomplish is the reduction of this gang violence," said Pitchess.

He said the problem was spread throughout the county but the new team will have its members assigned to the substations at Carson, East Los Angeles, Firestone, City of Industry, Lennox, Norwalk, Pico Rivera and Temple City because areas served by those commands have more acute problems.

Also Thursday Supervisor Kenneth Hahn complained that judges have been too soft on youthful lawbreakers. He said that out of 15,865 juveniles arrested for breaking into homes and commiting burglary in 1974 only 86 were turned over to the California Youth Authority for imprisonment.

The Board of Supervisors voted to sent Hahn's figures and a "get tough" request to county court and juvenile authorities.

Woman dies in blazing car, man in motel room

Fires claim lives of 2 Pomonans

Fires claimed the lives of two Pomona residents Thursday night — a woman trapped in flames while parking her car in a garage and a man burned in his motel room.

Jan Frances Hoehn, 26, 1325 N. Caswell Ave., was pronounced dead at the scene of a fire in the garage at her home at approximately 8:30 p.m.

A man, approximately 65, 1274 W. Second St., died at Pomona Valley Community Hospital, Thursday night, possibly of cardiac arrest because of burns suffered in a fire in his motel room. His name is being withheld, pending notification of next of kin.

According to Pomona Fire Department officials, Miss Hoehn had driven her twin sister to her home and was returning the car to the garage at the Caswell Street address when a fire broke out.

Authorities said Miss Hoehn appeared to have been trapped in her car in the fire, which destroyed two cars and heavily damaged the garage. The fire department was called by neighbors, who spotted the flames.

A Fire Department spokesman said that the cause of the fire is under investigation today. It has not been determined whether the fire started in the car or the garage.

Miss Hoehn's body was released to the Los Angeles County Coroner's Office, where an autopsy is planned.

An autopsy is also planned for the second victim today by the coroner's office.

Fire officials said he was burned in a fire in his room which may have resulted from smoking in bed. Fire damage was confined to the mattress and bed. Firefighters answered the call at 10:54 p.m.

The victim was taken to PVCH, where he later died. He lived alone, fire officials reported.

Investigation continues today in this fire, also.

FATAL FIRE

A fire Thursday night took the life of a Pomona woman, Jan Frances Hoehn, at 1325 N. Caswell Ave., and destroyed two cars and heavily damaged the garage. Fire Department investigators have not determined cause of the fire, which was reported by neighbors.

On income tax cut bill

Report compromise reached with Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has agreed to a compromise tax cut bill, partly resolving a legislative impasse that threatens to boost the average workingman's taxes on New Year's day, members of Congress said today.

Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., announced on the Senate floor that Ford has agreed to the compromise measure, which would tie a nonbinding spending ceiling to a tax cut extension.

Two other senators said Ford's approval came as the Senate Finance Committee voted 10-1 for the compromise. The bill was sent immediately to the Senate floor.

The senators said the White House would not announce its formal approval in advance.

At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary William I. Greener said only that Ford is "quite encouraged" by the compromise proposal "because it covers what the President has been asking for." He said Ford wants to see the final version of the compromise.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Budget Committee, said, "There is some fuzziness of language and some doubts about it by some. But (there) ... is the essence of compromise. Both sides have to be able to claim a victory."

The third senator who confirmed Ford's acceptance of the compromise declined to be identified.

In the House, both Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona and Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts said Ford favors the compromise.

"The President has indicated" he will sign the tax-cut bill if it includes the Senate compromise language, Rhodes said.

The compromise pledges Congress to reduce next year's anticipated federal spending by an amount equal to $17 billion in tax cuts, but the pledge is not binding.

The compromise was less warmly received in the House than in the Senate.

Speaker Carl Albert said as far as he knew Ford had not been convinced of the idea. Albert added: "They haven't sold me at all. I imagine I'll be the last one to cave in."

Ford vetoed the tax-cut extension because he said such a reduction in federal income must be tied to a cut in spending.

Albert said the House is "not going to put down a figure and bind ourselves by law 12 months in advance."

Asked whether he thought the Senate proposal could pick up enough votes in the House to override a Ford veto, he commented: "I doubt it."

While the compromise plan calls on Congress to reduce spending by $1 for each dollar of reduced taxes next year, it also says the pledge would not prevent the setting of higher or lower spending ceilings by normal budgetary processes.

Reach UAL strike accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Airlines and striking ground service employes reached tentative agreement on a new wage contract today and officials said they hoped the airline's busy holiday flight schedule would be resumed by Monday.

The agreement was reached after an all-night bargaining session with the government's top labor mediator, W.J. Usery Jr. A ratification vote was scheduled by the union for Sunday.

The strike began at midnight Dec. 5, forcing hundreds of thousands of holiday travelers to turn to other airlines or not travel at all. All United flights had been cancelled through Jan. 5.

United, the largest U.S. airline, carries 90,000 passengers daily on 2,800 flights. Other lines have been making extra flights to help stranded United passengers.

There was no immediate indication of the terms of the agreement between United and the striking International Association of Machinists. The union represents some 16,500 mechanics, ramp and food service employes.

The settlement came as a surprise. Union officials had predicted a long strike and advised their members to seek temporary jobs.

A United spokesman said if the agreement is ratified Sunday, 30 per cent of its flights would resume by Monday and 80 per cent by Tuesday, with all schedules restored by Wednesday, the day before Christmas.

In Miami, meanwhile, a federal judge ordered striking flight attendants of National Airlines to take a second vote on a proposed settlement to their walkout.

U.S. District Court Judge C. Clyde Atkins set no date for the vote by the National Association of Flight Attendants, who began their walkout 110 days ago.

The judge's order came in response to a suit filed by National, which flies mainly from Florida to East Coast points.

Board picks La Verne man

Selection of MSAC trustee clouded by faculty objections

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

Trustees of Mt. San Antonio College picked a mortgage company official from La Verne to the board Thursday to fill a vacancy and immediately ran into objections that may void their choice.

The board selected Clifton C. Booth, 38, one of 24 aspirants, to fill the post left vacant by the resignation of Trustee Robert Hickson last month. But the decision was not without some apprehension.

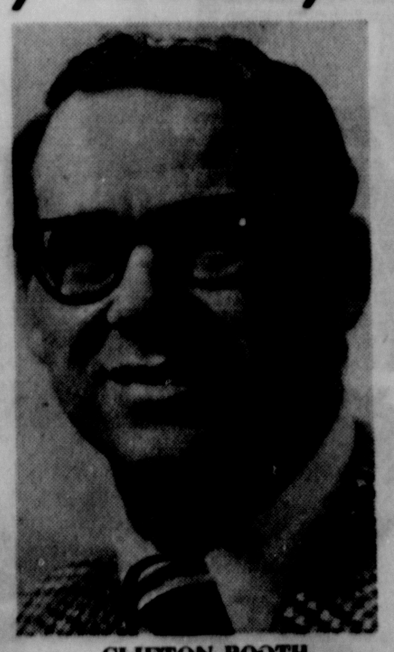
Chairman Richard Todd said the board has been threatened with the filing of a petition to upset the appointment and force a special election, "but we did not react to threats."

The MSAC Faculty Association had asked the board to "follow the will of the people" in making the appointment by picking the unsuccessful candidate in the last election who had received the highest number of votes. That would have been Gilbert Ramirez, a West Covina community worker.

After Booth's appointment was announced, James Owen, president of the college faculty association, said he would call an emergency executive board meeting for this afternoon to determine what course of action to follow.

The board's appointment can be upset by petitions for a special election filed with Leonard Panish, Los Angeles County registrar of voters, bearing the names of five per cent of those who voted in the last district election.

Such a move was successful last year when the board appointed Mrs. Nancy Bennett of Walnut to succeed Lance Smith, who had died. The appointment was voided by petitions for a special election.



CLIFTON BOOTH
. . . new trustee

That election cost the district $77,000, and Todd said he hoped there would be no such election this time, because it "would cost considerably more."

"In deciding whom to appoint, the board had a very difficult job," he explained. "We seriously considered all suggestions, but we did not react to threats."

He said suggestions were made to the board to appoint a woman, a runnerup in the last election, a student, a minority person, or someone from Hickson's area, Pomona, and the board had considered all those aspects.

Appointment of Booth makes it the first time since the college was established three decades ago that the board does not have two members from Pomona.

But there is an unwritten agreement among the trustees to balance the board by having at least two members east of Kellogg Hill, whenever possible. This apparently was a significant factor in the appointment of the La Verne candidate.

Booth is secretary-treasurer of the Occidental Mortgage Corp. of West Covina, a company he helped form in 1967. He is president of the board of directors of the San Gabriel Valley YMCA, and president elect of the Covina Rotary Club. He also is on the advisory committee of Mt. San Antonio College.

He is a graduate of MSAC and Cal Poly, and has done graduate work in finance at USC.

If no petitions are filed against the appointment, Booth is expected to be sworn into office Jan. 2[0]

Booth said this morning that he was "surprised and pleased by the appointment."

Informed of the possibility of the special election, he said it "would be a shame to have to hold one for 15 months of service, but if one is held, I am ready."

He said his sole interest in seeking the position is to be "of service to the community."

Occidental has an office not only in West Covina, but also in Pomona.

Drama ends as hostages released

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Seven South Moluccan gunmen seeking an independent Asian homeland freed 25 hostages unharmed from the Indonesian consulate today and surrendered, peacefully ending a 16-day siege that began in a blaze of gunfire and got them nothing in return.

The freed hostages — including 10 women — smiled and waved and joyful residents danced in the streets under fluttering Dutch flags. Their captors, in their early 20s and including two students at a teachers training college, were so bored in the final stage of the ordeal that they let loose a burst of gunfire to help pass the time, police said.

Justice Minister Dries Van Agt told a news conference the Dutch government had achieved its aim of obtaining the release of the hostages without concessions to the gunmen.

The surrender came hours after the gunmen threw a birthday party for one of their hostages, and five days after six other South Moluccans freed 23 hostages from a hijacked train 90 miles away, ending a 12-day ordeal in which three persons were killed. Those gunmen too got no concessions.

One person, an Indonesian official, died in the consulate siege from injuries sustained jumping from a window trying to escape.

The gunmen at the consulate symbolically lowered their own flag from the building shortly before 1:30 p.m., filed out at intervals and were driven off in three police paddy wagons.

The freed hostages were driven off in a bus. They waved and smiled through the window. People living in the area came out on their balconies and waved back.

GOP ranks thinning in state legislature; 5th solon retiring

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A fifth Republican state senator has announced he will not run for re-election next year — a move that adds to chances that Democrats will expand their hold on the upper house.

Sen. Robert Stevens of Los Angeles said Thursday he has decided to retire from politics after the 1976 legislative session so he can spend more time with his family.

Republican Sens. Howard Way of Exeter, Clare Berryhill of Ceres, Donald Grunsky of Watsonville and James Whetmore of Buena Park have already announced they will not run again next year.

The retirments leave only seven incumbent Republicans still planning to run for re-election. Another three GOP incumbents aren't up for election again until 1978.

Stevens agreed that the retirements could help Democrats.

"I think the retirements will have an adverse effect on our gaining more seats than we now hold," he said. "I suppose in a couple of districts it may give the Democrats an advantage. They may pick up one or two seats."

Registered Republicans outnumber Democrats in only one of the five districts, Whetmore's in Orange County.

Democrats now have a 25-15 majority in the Senate, and Republicans have 12 of their 15 seats at stake in next year's elections.

Only eight of the 25 Democrats face re-election in 1976 under the Senate's staggered election system.

One of the 25 Democratic seats will be vacated next month when Sen. George Moscone takes office as mayor of San Francisco. But Moscone's district is heavily Democratic and Democrats are expected to retain it.

Stevens, 59, said he decided to retire because "at the end of this term a year from now I will have spent 14 years with most of my time away from my family." He said his grandchildren were "growing up without me."

He said he reached his decision Wednesday night after "agonizing over it for a couple of weeks."

Stevens is vice chairman of the powerful Senate Rules Committee. He was first elected to the upper house in 1966 after serving four years in the Assembly.

He has represented the 25th Senate District, which included Santa Monica, Pacific Palisades, Malibu, Bel Air, Westwood, El Segundo, Manhattan Beach, Redondo Beach and Palos Verdes.

But because of the 1973 legislative reapportionment Stevens would have run in the 27th Senate District, which takes in part of his old district.

Stevens, an attorney, said he may practice law as well as teach and write about politics after leaving office.

L.A. won't join move to oppose oil leases

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The city council has refused to have Los Angeles join a coalition of state and local governments in suing to delay further sale of oil lease tracts offshore.

And, in a second move favoring the oil industry Thursday, the council opposed taxation of an advance payment to one oil company for natural gas negotiation rights.

By a 7-7 vote, the council first defeated a motion by Councilwoman Pat Russell that the city join the suit filed by the state of California, the Southern California Association of Governments and 15 local governments against the lease sales, the first of which was held last week and produce smaller and fewer bids than expected.

City Councilman Arthur K. Snyder blamed the suit for the sale's poor showing.

Both Mayor Tom Bradley and City Atty. Burt Pines had urged the council to join the suit.

In the second vote, saying it would save gas company customers more than $300 million, the council unanimously supported tax exemption for advance payments by the Southern California Gas Co. to the Atlantic Richfield Corp.

The payments are for negotiation rights for 60 per cent of any gas found during ARCO's exploration of the north slope of Alaska's Prudhoe Bay. The price of the gas would be decided, presumably, in those paid-for negotiations.

UFW wins in 5 of 6 farm votes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Six more farm labor elections have been certified by the state Agricultural Labor Relations Board.

The latest list indicates 75 elections have been certified in the wake of this fall's elections under the state's new secret ballot law. Certification permits the winning union to begin bargaining with the grower for a labor contract.

The United Farm Workers of America won five of the six elections on the new certification list.

S-S-S-STRIKE!

Picketers showed unusual zeal in a school strike at Faribault, Minn., Thursday. The teachers called the strike in weather 10 degrees below zero. More than 5,000 students were affected.

Skylab to have males, females

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Male and female scientists without astronaut training will be aboard Spacelab, when the National Aeronautics and Space Administration sends it into orbit in the 1980s, officials say.

Spacelab officials at Rockwell International's Space Division in suburban Downey told reporters Thursday the only health criteria to be required of the scientists will be minimum physical fitness and the ability to withstand moderate gravity pull and to function in a weightless state.

Program officials said the halfway point has been reached in the development of the $500 million, reusable shuttle-spacecraft ticketed for missions of from seven to 30 days. The European Space Agency, formed by 10 European nations, will join in the missions.

Aid to Pomona schools placed at $4.2 million

School employes and parents crowded City Council Chambers Wednesday night when administrators of Pomona school district reported on federal and special state programs to the school board.

This year these programs are bringing into the district's general fund budget $4,206,164, expanding the 1975-76 general fund budget as adopted last August from $32,799,932 to $37,006,096.

Each board member had been presented a comprehensive outline of each program, which was explained by Ray L. Thomas, acting assistant superintendent of educational services.

Reports were given by Patricia A. Ramp, coordinator of compensatory education evaluator.

Board member Mary Montes expressed strong concern for the bilingual and culturally unique youngster. Member Ken Pine questioned whether the evaluations of federal and special state programs were honest, or just "to help continue funding."

Parental involvement, and its effectiveness, were explained by Steve Alvarado and Gertha Speiginer.

Search of hotel finds no more RFK bullets

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Investigators went back to the scene of the Sen. Robert F. Kennedy assassination but failed to find any bullet holes not previously noted.

"No other bullets were found tonight," Chief Deputy Dist. Atty. Stephen Trott told reporters after a search Thursday night of the pantry of the Ambassador Hotel.

"However, we're willing to look anyplace there might reasonably be something. But we're not conducting wild goose chases."

The search was ordered because of recent statements from two Los Angeles police officers and two hotel carpenters who say they saw what seemed to be bullet holes in the wood facing of the center divider of the pantry door.

Dist. Atty. John Van de Kamp said the original facing was taken away by police investigators and later destroyed. But the wooden post forming the center divider was the same and investigators wanted to look at it.

However, attorney Vincent Bugliosi, representing Paul Schrade, one of the five persons wounded in the assassination, had said:

"I'm not hopeful at all that anything will be found for the simple reason that a .22-caliber bullet does not have the velocity and weight to penetrate a facing that's three-quarter-inch thick."

Bugliosi contends more than eight shots were fired the night of the shooting. The .22-caliber revolver wrested from convicted assassin Sirhan B. Sirhan could hold only eight shots.

The official police version of the assassination lists a total of eight shots fired. Police have accounted for seven bullets and say the eighth bullet "was lost somewhere in the ceiling interspace" of the pantry.

Van de Kamp said he had to obtain a warrant to conduct the search because the Ambassador management refused to permit the inspection without one.

Also present at the search was Godfrey Isaac, representing Sirhan, whose death sentence for the Kennedy assassination was commuted to life imprisonment after California's death penalty law was ruled unconstitutional.

Labor secretary issues warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop today warned of "unmitigated hell" in the construction industry next year if President Ford vetoes a bill expanding the picketing rights of building trades unions.

Dunlop denounced as preposterous and ridiculous arguments by groups opposing the legislation that it would lead to more strikes.

Richardson: might be nominee for VP, if...

LONDON (AP) — Ambassador Elliot L. Richardson says he might be the Republican vice presidential nominee if the list is long enough.

President Ford's new secretary of commerce said in an interview with The Associated Press Thursday he is sure his name will figure "on any sufficiently long list" of vice presidential candidates now that Vice President Nelson Rockefeller has withdrawn from the contest.

But Richardson said he is not seeking the nomination.

Asked about the possibility of his becoming a candidate for the presidential nomination if President Ford drops out, Richardson replied:

"I don't exclude any possibility. I see no need really to foreclose any course of action in a situation that has not arisen."

Richardson, 55, leaves London in mid-January to take up his new post. He said he intends to campaign for Ford as much as his Cabinet duties permit. But he said he would not solicit cash contributions on behalf of the Republicans because that would conflict with his Cabinet responsibilities.

Richardson denied suggestions by some newspapers that as attorney general he pressured Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox to be soft on President Richard M. Nixon. Reiterating a position he took Dec. 4 before the Senate Commerce Committee at his confirmation hearing, he said this interpretation of the final report of the Watergate special prosecutor's office distorted the report.

He added that the report "was less accurate than it could have been" when it said he proposed that all Watergate allegations be screened by the criminal division of the Justice Department to see if they were in Cox's jurisdiction.

"I think it failed adequately to recognize Archibald Cox's own statement that he never felt any pressures from me, that he never felt I had made any suggestion he regarded as improper," said Richardson.

"As attorney general I could not perform the function normal to the attorney general as legal adviser to the president because the department of the attorney general was investigating the role of the president and his staff in Watergate. I could not directly involve myself in Mr. Cox's investigation either, because I had committed myself to the independence of his investigation.

"But he was exercising powers delegated to him by me, and during the hearings I remained accountable. The result was that I was in the middle. I was the lawyer for the situation, trying to overcome problems as they arose."

Richardson spoke, in answer to questions, of some of the changes in emphasis and priorities he hopes to introduce when he becomes commerce secretary. He listed three concepts:

—Sources of official governmental aid will never be enough to close the gap in living standards between "the poorest one-third of the world" and the industrialized nations. There should, therefore, be a substantial contribution by private capital with the aim of building up confidence between corporate investments and host countries.

—In the United States, confidence should be strengthened in the role of private investment and the free market. There is a limit to governmental intervention because it results in a "a loss of responsiveness to the individual and ultimately to individual freedom." Corporate responsibility has to be reinforced. There must be greater public recognition of the role of the private sector in preserving "the fabric of a free society."

—Equally there must be a definition of the limits of state or public interest, "but without an excessive expansion of the direct functions of government," perhaps the most critical and difficult problem to be resolved.

This has a special relevance to the development of alternative sources of energy, he said, since this plainly requires governmental aid and as rapidly as possible.

"The question to be answered is how to achieve public accountability in a context of private initiative," he said. "Alternatively you could say, 'How can we preserve the advantages of private initiative while assuring public accountability?'"

Another veto by Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today vetoed a $45 billion appropriation bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare because it called for spending nearly $1 billion more than he sought and would add 8,000 people to federal employment rolls.

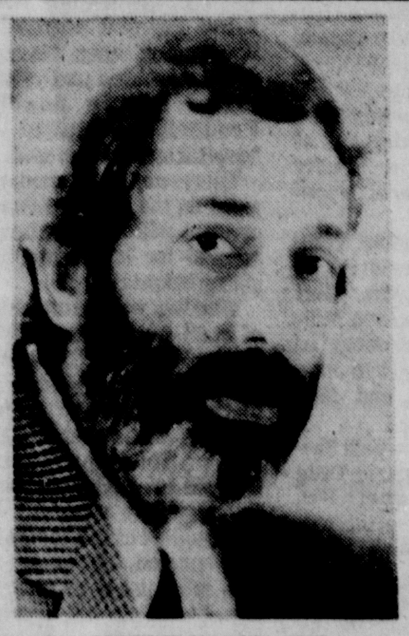
The bill, if approved, would add significantly "to the already burdensome federal deficits expected this year and next, but the individual increases themselves are unjustified, unnecessary and unwise," Ford said in a veto message to the House.

The bill provides $39.5 billion for HEW and $4.4 billion for the Labor Department, plus additional funds for related agencies.

It was Ford's second major veto in three days. He vetoed the tax cut extension measure on Wednesday. The veto was sustained by the House of Representatives on Thursday.

White House officials said the administration was confident the HEW-Labor bill veto also would be sustained.

In his veto message, Ford referred to his turndown of the tax measure "because it was not accompanied by a limit on federal spending."



JOSEPH KALLINGER

'You're evil,' says judge, hands out term to 80 years

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — "You're an evil man, Joseph Kallinger," the judge said as he imposed a prison term of up to 80 years on the man accused in a series of father-and-son crimes including robbery, sexual assault and murder.

Dauphin County Judge John C. Dowling, pronouncing sentence Thursday in a case involving the holdup of four women, told the convicted man, "I say evil not just because of your crimes but because you actively involved a 12-year-old boy in these infamous deeds. To corrupt your own son is utterly vile and depraved."

Kallinger, 39, and his son, Michael, were accused of breaking into a Harrisburg home on Dec. 3, 1974, grabbing four women as they gathered for a card party and robbing them of $20,000 in cash and other valuables.

He had a mistrial in June, was retried and was convicted Sept. 18 on the robbery charges. His son was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Dowling noted that witnesses had said Kallinger had told the women not to identify him because "with the court system being what it is, I'll be out in no time and get you."

"You are wrong, Mr. Kallinger," Dowling said. "The sentence of this court is that you be sent (to prison) to serve a term of not less than 30 years nor more than 80 years."

Kallinger will not be eligible for parole for 30 years. In addition, he still faces charges that include a killing and a number of sexual assaults in New Jersey and has already been ordered extradited to that state for trial.

He is charged with the Jan. 8, 1975, slaying of Maria Fasching, 21, at a Leonia, N.J., home. One witness said Miss Fasching's throat was slashed when she refused to perform a sex act.

New York to draw on new loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York City is taking immediate advantage of the $2.3-billion emergency loan appropriation signed into law on Thursday by President Ford. The city planned to draw $141 million of it today.

Mayor Abraham Beame called the loan "an important step toward relieving the city of day-to-day cash-flow crises."

Thursday's signing was anticlimatic after months of wrangling over various plans to aid the financially stricken metropolis.

Treasury Department officials have been working with city fiscal experts to ready the first installment of $141 million.

The money for New York was part of a $10.3-billion supplemental appropriation approved by Congress to fund a number of federal projects and replenish agency coffers.

Under the bill, New York can receive loans of up to $2.3 billion a year, payable at the end of the year, in each of the next three years. Legislation authorizing the loan procedure was signed last week. Thursday's action provides the money.

The city will be loaned money by the Treasury during months when the city's cash flow shows a deficit, and the money will be repaid during high-revenue months when the city ledger's show a surplus.

Other federal programs covered by the appropriations bill include the food stamp program, as well as unemployment benefits and services.

Argentine rebels send in planes in uprising

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Four air force planes flown by rebels seeking President Isabel's Peron's ouster made several low swooping passes over the air force headquarters and the Government House today shortly after Mrs. Peron arrived at her office.

No action was immediately taken against the reconnaissance aircraft, which dropped rebel leaflets over Buenos Aires on Thursday as the uprising began. The rebels control three key air bases, military sources said.

Witnesses said the single-engine planes made the passes mainly over the air force building less than a mile from the Government House.

Military sources said the rebels, described as right-wing Roman Catholic nationalists, would continue their uprising until the 44-year-old Mrs. Peron was replaced by the army chief.

Stevens takes office as high court justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vowing to treat rich and poor alike, John Paul Stevens was sworn in today to the Supreme Court seat held for more than 36 years by Justice William O. Douglas.

President Ford stood at the counsel table and watched as the man he appointed to the high court took the judicial oath administered by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

Fifteen minutes earlier, in the privacy of the justices closed conference room, the 55-year-old jurist had sworn to uphold the Constitution.

Stevens, a judge of the 7th U.S. Circuit Court in Chicago since 1970, became the 101st justice in Supreme Court history.

Seated in a chair once used by the 19th century Chief Justice John Marshall, he listened as Michael Radk Jr., clerk of the court, read a commission signed by the President.

Services costly

Consumer prices in sharp boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharply increased auto insurance rates and higher mortgage costs led a seven-tenths of one per cent increase in consumer prices last month, the same rise as in October, the government reported today.

The sharp increase in over-all prices, sparked by a surge in the cost of services, was a surprise to administration economists who expected some moderation in the nation's inflation rate.

Food price increases moderated last month and gasoline prices declined, but these improvements were more than offset by the biggest rise in the cost of services in more than a year.

Auto insurance rates rose 8.5 per cent in November and were reported 17 per cent higher than a year ago. Government experts said a major portion of the auto insurance increase was a big jump in rates for collision insurance. Mortgage rates rose 1.6 per cent in November.

The Labor Department said that increases in property taxes, natural gas, clothing, new cars, dairy products and fresh vegetables also contributed to November's increase in the Consumer Price Index.

Some prices declined, however, including meats, sugar, used cars and the cost of health insurance.

Prices have risen 6.6 per cent so far this year and were 7.3 per cent above the level in November 1974. In all of 1974, prices rose 12.2 per cent.

This November, the Consumer Price Index stood at 165.6, meaning that it required $16.56 to purchase the same amount of goods and services that sold for $10 in the 1967 base period.

The purchasing power of a typical worker's paycheck increased seven-tenths of a per cent last month, thanks to an increase in average hours worked and a rise in average hourly earnings which more than offset the boost in consumer prices, the Labor Department said.

Real spendable earnings — take-home pay adjusted for inflation and taxes — were up 3.9 per cent over the year, owing almost entirely to the reduction in federal income tax rates which went into effect last May.

A rise in auto insurance costs was largely responsible for the big increase in services, but charges for auto repairs and parking fees also were up last month, the government said.

Charges for household services other than rent rose more than usual in November, primarily because of higher mortgage interest rates, property taxes, natural gas and telephone services.

Physicians' fees and hospital service charges continued to increase rapidly.

Grocery prices in November rose five-tenths of a per cent following a rise of 1.5 per cent in October.

The index for commodities other than food rose three-tenths of a per cent, the same as in October, but services were up 1.1 per cent, the sharpest increase since a 1.2 per cent rise in September 1974.

Before today's figures were released, James L. Pate, the Commerce Department's chief economists had said he didn't see any evidence that a price bulge might be coming.

Nobody won a thing in tax fracas, says poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans, by a 38 per cent to 36 per cent margin, favored Congress' decision to enact a $15-billion, no strings attached tax cut over President Ford's proposed $28-billion tax cut accompanied by a federal spending cut of the same amount, a Harris poll says.

Ford vetoed Congress' version of the tax cut bill on Wednesday, but the House failed Thursday in an attempt to override the veto.

"Since the public feels that both sides of the controversy have some merit, there is an even split of public opinion with neither side getting anywhere close to majority backing," the pollster said Thursday.

A majority of 63 per cent to 18 per cent believes that "if there is no cut in federal spending as great as the amount of tax rebate, then the result will be another rise in prices," Harris said.

However, the survey also showed that a majority of 59 per cent to 20 per cent agrees with the Democrats' claim that "the President is playing politics because the tax rebate he favors would take place early in 1976, while the cut in spending could not be made until after the election."

Noting that "the balance of power in the country now rests with those people whose political philosophy is middle of the road and who are independents politicially, the pollster said:

"It is clear that neither the Democrats in Congress nor Mr. Ford is winning over this pivotal group on the tax issue which divides them almost evenly....

"More likely, the recent tax fracas along the banks of the Potomac will turn out to be another of those affairs that has led 86 per cent of the people to write off politicians, presidents, congressmen and other officials as being unresponsive to the real desires of the public in a time of deep national concern."

Taken the week of Nov. 22, the poll included replies from 1,475 persons nationwide.

Spotlight on crime

Hearing set in professor slaying

Seventeen-year-old Richard Sinnott, accused of robbing and murdering Cal Poly professor William C. Warner on Oct. 20 in Diamond Bar, is scheduled for a hearing Jan. 6 in Pomona Municipal Court to determine if he has proper counsel and to settle other legal issues.

The hearing was ordered by Commissioner Thomas Peterson when the young man was arraigned before him Tuesday. Peterson ordered the Tempe, Ariz., truck driver held without bail.

Sinnott, who was arrested in his home in Arizona Oct. 30, recently was ruled unfit for consideration as a juvenile and ordered prosecuted as an adult. That hearing was in Eastlake Juvenile Court in Los Angeles.

Sheriff's investigators charged that Sinnott met the teacher in a bar, accompanied him home and robbed and killed him. The youth was in California as a driver, they said.

Karen Falnney of 1502 W. Hollowell St., ONTARIO, reported to police that a diamond cocktail ring, valued at $1,000, had been stolen from her some time Thursday.

The ring was described as having one large diamond in the center and five small diamonds around the edges of the white gold ring. The diamonds have a total weight of three-quarters of a karat, she said.

A POMONA woman escaped injury but lost her purse to a thief who wrenched it from her Thursday night at Ninth and Waters streets.

The victim, Kathryn L. Yates, 25, was walking home when the man ran up from behind, grabbed her purse and spun her around shen she tried to hang on to it. Then he fled to a car parked nearby and drove away. The purse contained about $19, police reported.

The man was described as a Negro between 20 and 30, 6 feet and weighing 180 pounds. He wore a knee-length, white coat with a fur collar and drove away in a white pin-striped Volkswagen.

A 14-year-old ONTARIO youth is in custody of Juvenile authorities for investigation of burglary after he allegedly attempted to break into a home at 1619 E. Olive St. in Ontario.

Police said the burglary was reported by Warren Peters, 14, who was home from school because of illness Wednesday. The youth called police when he heard someone trying to pry open a window of his home. When officers arrived the suspect was found in the backyard hiding under a mattress. Police said the young burglar had a screwdriver in his possession.

An 18-year-old Los Serranos man was booked in CHINO Jail this morning in connection with the kidnaping of an 11-year-old Chino girl last Friday afternoon in the area of Monte Vista Avenue and the Pomona Freeway.

Police said William Trimbell, 18, will be arraigned on the charges this morning after his arrest Thursday.

Trimbell, according to police, last Friday afternoon grabbed the little girl as she was walking to school. He allegedly forced her to walk to nearby Crescendo Park at Monte Vista Avenue and Liberty Street and there tied her up with cloth strips. Police said the suspect after binding the girl, kissed her once and let her go.

The girl was uninjured.

GEN. EARLE WHEELER

General Wheeler dies at 67

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, who was chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff during most of the Vietnam war period, is dead at age 67.

Wheeler, who retired in 1970, died Thursday afternoon at Frederick Memorial Hospital.

He was being transported by ambulance from King's Daughter's Hospital in Martinsburg, W. Va., to Walter Reed Army Hospital outside of Washington when his condition worsened and he was taken to the nearby Frederick Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

There was no immediate word on the cause of death or what Wheeler was being treated for in the Martinsburg hospital.

Wheeler was Army chief of staff from Oct. 1, 1962, through July 3, 1964, and for the next six years was chairman of the Joint Chiefs, the nation's highest military post. His tenure as chairman was the longest in history.

In studies of the Vietnam war period, Wheeler is generally listed as one of those who played a principal role in supporting and encouraging the buildup of U.S. forces there.

Rails veto urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr., urged President Ford today to veto a $6.5 billion rail bill designed to pump new life into the nation's railroads and create a new line from the remains of seven financially ailing carriers.

Coleman cited the spending levels authorized in the bill and several provisions relating to establishment of ConRail, the new railroad, as reasons for asking for the veto.

The bill was approved late Thursday by House-Senate conferees and was expected to be brought to the floors of each chamber today.

In a letter, Coleman cited a provision in the legislation requiring travel time on trains between Washington, D.C., and Boston to be cut by 90 minutes. This would require a government expenditure of $4 billion, Coleman said. The measure provides only $2.4 billion for upgrading the route.

He also objected to several provisions relating to the establishment of ConRail. One would allow ConRail to use government money without paying interest until the new corporation made a $500 million profit.

U.S., Egyptians sign loan pact

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt and the United States signed a $100 million commercial agreement today, the first installment of a $250 million loan to be used for agricultural and industrial projects.

The loan will be paid over 40 years after a grace period of 9½ years and Egypt will pay two per cent interest for the first 10 years and three per cent thereafter, the agreement said.

Payments will be twice a year.

U.S. Ambassador Hermann Eilts and Egyptian Economy Minister Zaki Shafei signed for their countries.

Israelis have become major arms exporters

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel has become a major exporter of arms, ranking itself with Switzerland, Italy and Sweden in the sale of weapons to foreign governments, a senior defense official says.

The arms industry is one of Israel's largest employers, with tens of thousands of workers manufacturing everything from small ammunition to jet fighters.

The locally made Uzi submachine gun, for example, is sold to more than 60 countries. One of the customers is the United States Secret Service which guards President Ford.

According to the Defense Department official, who asked not to be identified, Israel "exports arms to every continent" and helps equip 19 foreign armies.

Officials, however, say that U.S. military aid, such as the $1.8 billion which Israel expects this year, could never be replaced by local production.

With sophisticated weapons systems being supplied to the Arab states by the big powers, Israel can't hope to become self-sufficient in its defense needs, the officials say.

"In talking about the arms industry there is a built-in contradiction," says one official. "On the one hand we must be discreet and on the other we have to promote exports."

Statistics in the industry are a military secret, so there are no official production or export figures. But some sources say Israel will wind up selling about $200 million worth of arms to foreign countries this year and future orders on the books amount to more than $500 million.

"We only sell arms to governments," one official says. "Every transaction must be approved politically and from a security point of view."

Most weapons manufactured in Israel have some American components, says an official and "we only sell these items to countries that have been approved of by the United States."

Some major items for sale are:

—A 175-foot, 400-ton, longrange missile boat armed with seven missiles and two 76mm deck guns.

—The Gabriel missile, described by its manufacturers as "the Free World's only combat proven sea-to-sea missile and weapons system." The missile, armed with a 300-pound warhead, has a range of 20 miles.

A spokesman for Israel Aircraft Industries said the Gabriel had earned Israel $1.5 billion in overseas sales and the company was developing a new model with twice the range.

—The Shafrir air-to-air missile system with an infrared heatseeking 24-pound warhead. The missile can be used against aircraft at altitudes of up to 60,000 feet. Production costs of each missile total more than $17,000.

—The combat-tested, 65-foot Dabur coastal gunboat, with a range of 700 nautical miles and cruising speed of 22 knots, based on the U.S. "Hornet."

—The Kfir single seater, multi-mission combat jet fighter. Israelis claim it outflies the French Mirage 5.

The largest Israeli-made gun is a 155mm howitzer, manufactured at Soltam in Haifa which also produces half a million pots and pans a year under license to an American kitchenware company.

Fired from the tip of southern Spain, for example, the cannon could lob a 95-pound shell across the Strait of Gibraltar into Morocco.

At Israel's military industries, Taas, where workers have turned out 400,000 Uzi submachine guns for the overseas market in the past 18 years, officials say they have never refused an export order.

The company's magazine recently said the firm had more than $200 million worth of export orders on hand and production for the foreign market had increased by 60 per cent in the year after the 1973 Mideast war.

BEATS DRIVING TRUCKS — Molly Jean Ritter turned from driving trucks to being an oilfield roustabout in San Joaquin Valley.

Better than driving truck

Woman likes oilfield work

TAFT, Calif. (AP) — Molly Ritter said good-bye to fancy hairdos and hello to powerful muscles when she signed on as one of the few women oilfield roustabouts.

Now, 46-year-old Molly spends her workdays elbow to elbow with hardened oilwell workmen at the Belridge holdings of Mobil Oil Corp. about 25 miles northwest of here.

Her long blonde hair had to go, the victim of regulations that her hard hat fit snugly.

And the dirt and oil she collects while disassembling wells and working on pumps? "It all washes out," she says.

Molly isn't the only woman battling dirt and goo in the San Joaquin Valley's oilfields. An Atlantic Richfield spokesman says seven women are working on its oil rigs in Kern County, and Shell Oil Co. says two are at work on rigs here and several others at Coalinga in Fresno County.

Mrs. Ritter, mother of two grown children, says she became interested in an oilfield job while delivering towels to the location where she now works.

She says her year-old job is "fine ... I'm doing something different. I like outside work and it sure beats what I used to make driving a truck.

"When I first came, the men were very nice and quiet. Now they talk to me just like one of the fellows."

Mrs. Ritter denied being a woman's liberationist.

"All I want to do is make a living," she said. "I don't go for woman's lib. It's up to a woman whatever she wants to do. I think a girl should be a girl."

The job, which includes washing generators and repairing pipelines, requires that she wear a decidedly ungirlish outfit consisting of steel-toed boots, hardhat, blue jeans and long underwear and sweatshirt in the winter.

"I feel like I'm doing my share of the work," Mrs. Ritter said. "So far, the men have not complained or told me different, so I guess I am."

She's built up her muscles, sacrificed most of her hair and goes to work in jeans instead of a dress, but Mrs. Ritter still recommends the job to other women — "If girls like outside work and don't mind getting dirty and possess some strength, any girl should give it a try."

State property now slum neighborhood

SACRAMENTO (AP) — iis is an all-too familiar ory about the decline of a wntown neighborhood, d the sudden realization at something must be ne.

But this time, the ndlord is the state of alifornia.

It is perhaps significant at Gov. Edmund Brown r. lives in this eighborhood, just across ie street from Capitol ark. Every day he sees erelict apartment uildings and sprawling arking areas and vacant ts where planners once aked out high-rise office uildings.

But visions, like randeur, sometimes fade. resent planners no longer ee the development of im-osing edifices, bustling vith activity during the lay but abandoned at ight.

Instead, they visualize what they call a "more umanistic" mix of of-ices, homes and shops on state land. In the imme-diate, they're hoping for nore grass instead of weeds, more human oc-cupancy instead of broken windows.

Brown says he's aware of the problem, and he wants to do something about it.

Officials say they are working up proposals. After all, they add, it's time the state faced up to its responsibilities as a ma-jor landlord.

The problem is twofold. First, the state is spending nearly $9 million a year to rent privately owned office space in Sacramento, and some agencies are split up all over town. This dates back to Gov. Ronald Rea-gan's moratorium on office construction.

Second and most ob-vious, the state has acquired 400 properties in the area for future office construction. But after the demolition of 294 buildings, little land was used. Just over 100 buildings are still standing, including about 75 more-or-less valid struc-tures and about 30 empty ones that may have rotted beyond repair.

The neighborhood has been going down hill so fast that a citizens' committee has launched a campaign to reverse the trend. About 600 citizens live in the state area.

In double irony, the citizens are Brown's neighbors, and the condi-tions leading to the down-fall were set up during the governorship of Brown's father, Edmund G. Brown Sr.

Times change, and so do priorities. In the late 1950s, California and its govern-ment were growing fast. The legislative wisdom of the time brought the gran-diose "Capitol Master Plan," under which a state complex would rise in a 50-block area between the business district and the south residential area.

By 1966, the property had been acquired—old houses, stores, apartment buildings and businesses. Demolition began, but only two major buildings went up—the two tallest towers in Sacramento.

The late 1960s brought social turbulance—and Reagan replaced Brown Sr.

Reagan, strapped with burgeoning welfare, Medi-Cal and other people programs, ran into what officials now call "serious cash flow problems." He decided that construction could wait.

In the place of shimmer-ing reflection pools and a placid lagoon came cold asphalt and weeds.

The Department of General Services was left in a quandary. Without knowing when a new state building would be ordered, it couldn't decide whether to spend money keeping up the acquired housing units or let them decay.

Many decayed. The place of demolition increased. By the time Brown Jr. moved into his rented pad, even some solid-looking apartment houses were deemed unsuitable for occupancy. Heating equip-ment had rusted. Roofs had leaked. New fire regulations posed added costs.

With low-cost housing in short supply, the relocation of occupants was a problem. One state official used his own pickup truck to move a little old lady who hadn't the means otherwise.

Brown's director of general services, Leonard M. Grimes Jr., responded. Instead of destroying marginal buildings, he had them boarded up until it can be determined if they're worth renovating.

Grimes also began turn-ing the revenue from valid properties back into up-keep. He invited the citizens' group, along with city and county govern-ment, to participate in the Capitol Area Plan Ad-visory Committee.

The Master Plan, now only a scale model on a large table, gathered dust. When reminded recently that it was still on display, State Architect Sim Van der Ryn lurched out of his chair and said, "We ought to move that. I'll take care of it right now."

Returning from issuing his order, Van der Ryn said he wants it clearly under-stood that the proposals in the works won't anywhere near resemble the Master Plan.

"It won't be one big plan all at once. It will be a basic concept that will evolve. A scheme, a nation," he said in an inter-view.

"It's not as though we're going to start a huge capital expansion plan. That's not it at all," said Van der Ryn.

Generally speaking, Van der Ryn and the advisory committee envision the gradual development of a mixed-use area. This means lodgings alongside office buildings, in-terspersed with commer-cial and recreational areas — maybe even schools. The new buildings should harmonize with the old.

Instead of 100 per cent state financing, they see cooperation between private developers and various levels of govern-ment.

As for new state buildings, Van der Ryn said costs should be calculated on the total ex-pected life of a building: Construction cost plus operating costs—mainly heat and cooling—instead of construction costs alone.

Crucial is the rising cost of fuel. Dutch-born Van der Ryn said it will eventually outweigh construction costs. But he says that up to 80 per cent of operating costs can be saved through careful architectural design.

Van der Ryn sees lower buildings, more wood and masonry and less concrete and steel. He recommends recessed shaded windows that open, sheltered ar-cades and breezeways, trees, and colors to reflect or retain heat.

"In the 1950s and 1960s, architects had it easy. They just had to package some space," he said.

But this doesn't neces-sarily mean an end to glass and reinforced concrete towers. "We'll probably do both," he said.

Final decisions remain with the legislature and the governor. The advisory committee is nearly ready to make its proposal. A small technical group is being assembled to help with details.

One thing seems certain— there will be no repetition of the Capitol Mall development.

Capitol Mall, between Tower Bridge and Capitol Park, is the product of an urbanization program of another time—only a few years back.

Visitors notice high walls of glass, concrete and steel lining a broad strip of asphalt and grass. But they don't see many people.

"Yea, it's sterile," Van der Ryn said in answer to a question.

"A friend of mine, told me it's spooky. That's just what I'm trying to avoid."

Spotty support for rate cut

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A decision by the state in surance commissioner to cut a 486 per cent medical malpractice insurance rate increase by one-third is getting spotty support by doctors and none by the insurer.

Commissioner Wesley J. Kinder ruled Wednesday that the increase proposed by Phoenix Mutual In-surance Co. is excessive.

"The insurer failed to justify an increase in ex-cess of 327 per cent," said Kinder in his ruling.

A spokesman for the Los Angeles County Medical Association announced LACMA was "pleased" with the decision, since it "does drop the rate in-crease somewhat," but ad-ded:

"There is still a long and tortuous path to resolution of the entire medical malpractice insurance problem. That decision alone does nothing to solve any crisis. As far as it relates to medical care in Southern California as of Jan. 1, the situation re-mains critical."

Other doctors were less polite.

"The ruling is like hav-ing an amputation below the ankle instead of below the knee — neither is very satisfactory," said Dr. David Lang, active in the medical slowdown at Dr. David Brotman Memorial Hospital in Culver City. "The rate decision doesn't change anything funda-mentally," Lang said. "The physicians I have talked to still plan to make their protest known as of Jan. 1."

"It offers no solution," said another protest leader, Dr. Joseph Roberts. "I believe (Kind-er's action) was purely politically motivated and was used in an attempt to divide the medical com-munity.

"It means that a surgeon in the high-risk area, in-stead of being raised from $6,000 a year to $36,000, would still have to pay in the $25,000 range. That's still too high, and would put a lot of doctors out of business."

In some parts of Southern California, main-ly Los Angeles, doctors have already stopped treating all but emergency and continuing cases in the protest, which so far is af-fecting about 15 hospitals.

Wheeler Hess, an under-writing vice president with the Travelers Insurance Companies of Hartford, Conn., the parent organiza-tion of Phoenix Mutual, said the Kinder ruling leaves the firm with an "entirely inadequate" rate for coverage exceeding $100,000, although, "The 327 per cent increase is right on the nose for what increase we feel we need to offer coverage of $100,000."

Kinder said a number of avenues are open to the firm, including ignoring the order and facing suspension by the state.

"At this point, I don't think the company would view suspension as par-ticularly undesirable," Kinder said.

By law the insurance commissioner only prohibits proposed rates as excessive; he can't set them, said an attorney in the State Department of Insurance, adding the com-pany can go to court and present further evidence that its actuarial records justify the rate.

"We may have an announcement that we're going to continue to press for the amount we feel is in order," said Peter Sweetland, a company spokesman.

In another decision, Kinder issued a permit for a proposed physician-owned insurance com-pany, called the Southern California Physicians In-surance Exchange, to seek doctor-subscribers for in-surance coverage.

Malpractice solution will hurt all a little—Brown

STOCKTON (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. says the medical malpractice insurance crisis is "a paradox" and that everybody is going to hurt a little from the ultimate solution.

Brown also said that completing a 23-mile gap in Interstate 5 between Stockton and Sacramento is a high priority in his highway program, but not necessarily the highest priority.

The Democratic governor made the remarks at a Democratic fund raising dinner Wednesday night for Assemblyman Carmen Perino before 1,300 guests at the Stockton Civic Memorial Auditorium.

It was the eighth political fund-raising speech since September for the maverick governor, who spurned all partisan political events during the first eight months of his administration.

And Brown mixed political styles at the podium.

He joked about pickets outside for Perino's Democratic rival, Lela Nelson. He delivered a partisan pep talk, and then changed tempo to present his now-familiar pessimistic view of tougher times, sacrifice and a future in which citizens must work more and accept less.

He said of the medical malpractice situation:

"Here we have the richest nation in the world, probably the best doctors, the best medicine and the best medical schools in the world — and the malpractice rates keep going up. It's a paradox.

"How do we resolve that?" he asked.

"It will have to be something where we all give a little, lawyers and doctors and insurance companies, and even patients. And out of compromise we can work some changes that will certainly be more beneficial than what we have now.

"We'll do everything we can to keep the malpractice problem from getting out of hand," he promised.

Brown joked about a politically explosive issue in the area — the long delay in completing the one 23-mile missing link in the nation's only Canada-to-Mexico freeway, Interstate 5.

"I like Highway 99, to tell the truth," he joked.

He added that the Interstate 5 project "is one of the highest on the list" if he can abolish the current legal 60-40 split of highway funds between southern and northern counties.

"I didn't say the highest. I didn't make it that clear. I think you have to speak with a little ambiguity," he added with a laugh.

On other subjects, Brown said the task of creating jobs must be a top priority at both state and national levels. He said jobs are the key to solving health, crime, education and other problems.

"A full employment economy is not some kind of luxury. It's a necessity," he said.

Jobless rate up slightly in Canada

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Unemployment rose slightly in Canada in November as the jobless rate jumped in four provinces — including Ontario and Quebec — but declined in five others.

A government agency reported this week that 7.3 per cent of the labor force was unemployed in November, up from 7.2 per cent in October.

Hefner sees upswing in Playboy's future

LOS ANGELES (AP)— "I feel we have turned the corner, and the future will be significantly better than the past," said Hugh Hefner, boss of the Playboy empire, reporting a steep drop in profits and revenues.

Playboy Enterprises Inc. reported earnings of $1.1 million on revenues of $197.7 milion last year, compared to $5.9 million and $204.3 million, respectively, the year before.

"This has not been an easy year for the company," Hefner told the audience at Playboy's annual meeting Tuesday.

Hefner said cost-cutting measures and a restructuring of the Playboy empire were beginning to show results, but he reiterated he would not lower the subscription price of Playboy magazine to boost its circulation.

"That's what killed Life, Look and the Saturday Evening Post. They got into the numbers game," said Hefner, who founded the Playboy empire 22 years ago.

Besides the magazine, whose billionth copy was sold sometime last month, the Playboy empire also includes clubs, hotels and resorts and records and television and movie film operations.

European gals make headway

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Ministers of social affairs of the European Common Market's nine member nations agreed today to give women equal access to jobs.

The ministers also decided women should have equal rights concerning vocational training, working conditions and advancement prospects.

Analyst thinks summer school pay is too high

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Programs in summer school should receive less funding because teachers work only four hours a day instead of seven, Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post says.

Post, the legislature's nonpartisan fiscal adviser, called for a reduction in summer school funding by 43 per cent because teachers' work days average 43 per cent shorter than the rest of the year.

In a report released Wednesday, he said the change would save the state $41.8 million and could cause "a moderate reduction in property taxes."

According to Post, one reason summer school programs have been expanding is that they cost only about 60 per cent as much as regular programs, but get the same amount of money per pupil.

School districts use the extra money to bail out other programs, he said.

At the same time that regular school enrollment has been declining slightly, summer school enrollment has increased 11.8 per cent, from 1.12 million to 1.47 million, since 1971. Post said the biggest increase has been in physical education.

Supporters of summer school say the increase is due in part to economic conditions that have made it hard for youngsters to find summer jobs.

At Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s insistence, the legislature has cut state support of summer schools next year by 20 per cent.

State law gives school districts the option of raising the difference, $28.8 million, by increasing property taxes.

Post said the state should instead reduce districts' revenues for summer school from any source.

To ease the blow to school districts, the cut could be made gradually, Post said.

State schools chief Wilson Riles said he wanted to read Post's report before commenting on it.

Yellow roses for patients seem to work

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Just before every heart operation at the King Edward II Memorial Chest Hospital in Warwick, England, a ellow rose is pinned within sight of the patient on the eart-lung machine.

This story was sent to us by James Krone of Roses Inorporated in Haslet, Mich., who attributed the "Rose herapy" story to Jean Gordon, who continued:

"This is a life-and-death ritual as the machine has to ake over the functions of the heart and lungs while surgeons sew up a tear in the heart itself. To complete this ose ritual the same yellow rose is taken to the patient's oom so that it is the first object he sees on wakening."

The origin of the custom has been lost but a hospital oficial says that patients love the idea and it does help. The loctors and nurses also may be affected.

Another rose therapy story is about Russian research on color. After 15 years of study in a sanitorium in Sukhumi, one doctor reported he was convinced that certain plants and trees helped specific illnesses — that actually, not just psychologically, being near red roses strengthened the nervous system.

Roses apparently were used 3,000 years ago in medicine. There is a record, Jean Gordon noted, of inscriptions on Assyrian clay tablets recording the use of roses and rose water in medicine and in the same century Greeks used for its medicinal properties an ointment of rose petals with oils and fats obtained from Rhodes.

Rubber Plants

If the bottom leaves of your rubber plant are turning yellow along the veins this heavy feeder probably needs more nutrients more often. Increase the fertilization schedule.

You should have dug up your gladiolus bulbs before heavy frost and stored them until next spring. We hope you treated the little corms against the destructive insect pest thrips.

If the foliage of your gladiolus was whitened, spotted or discolored last summer, this is evidence of the pest feeding, while hiding under the leaf sheaths and flower spikes. They live through winter on corms in storage.

Even if you have dried and stored them already, treat corms with a malathion garden dust.

An easy way is to put the corms in a box or sack, pour in an ounce of malathion dust per bushel and shake freely so that each corm is dusted. Then store the corms in trays or boxes, dust and all.

Plant Relatives

Tomatoes, potatoes, eggplant and peppers are closely related members of the nightshade family.

Watermelons, cantaloupe, cucumbers, squash and pumpkins are members of the gourd family and celery, carrots and parsnips are cousins of parsley. The onion is a relative of the amaryllis and the sweet potato is more closely related to the morning glory than to the white potato.

And sweet corn and popcorn are really grasses.

Home and garden

POINSETTIA — It's the traditional gift-giving holiday plant. Select from a spectacular display of color from bright red to brilliant pink and white.

Flowering plants popular this year

Plants add just the right touch to any festive occasion and at Christmas the beauty of live plants is unparalled. Blooming plants are the traditional favorites, but this Christmas many will make use of both foliage and flowering plants to create a special effect to welcome their guests and fill the house with cheer.

Blooming Camellias, holly bushes with bright berries, elegant white azaleas, colorful tulips and cyclamens enrich any entry and the cool air will keep them fresh for a long while. The azaleas, tulips and cyclamen can be brought indoors and enjoyed with your houseplants. Place a few pothos or varigated ivies around them and you have a natural garden-like effect.

For a stunning effect there are hanging basket poinsettias to compliment your wandering jews and kangaroo vines. Each basket has about seven poinsettia plants in it for a spectacular display of color from bright red to brilliant pink and white reports the California Association of Nurserymen.

A real treat for young and old alike are the hybrid amaryllis. They can be grown from bulbs in ordinary living room conditions to their full splendor of large red, rose or white blooms. These plants, with their long stems, are perfect for nestling in with your other table plants. You can arrange the pots so that they will seemingly pop out of ferns, coleus, or creeping charlies.

Finally, proudly display your Christmas cactus between a pair of candles as a center piece to any holiday dinner and enjoy all of your plants this season in the cheery spirit of Christmas.

Lots of lumbe

Oregon has more than 30 million acres of trees and is the nation's lumber state.

Put chemicals into fireplace

Make Christmas colorful

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Add color to the glow of your fireplace at Christmas.

A number of fuels may be treated chemically to produce colored flames. Among them are evergreen cones, small blocks of wood or kindling, wood chips, sawdust and tightly wrapped newspapers secured at both ends.

Flames of varied colors will result from soaking these materials in specific chemical solutions. For instance, copper sulfate will produce a green color; calcium chloride an orange; copper chloride, blue; lithium chloride, carmine and potassium chloride, purple.

But do not use chlorates, nitrates or potassium permanganate, and keep chemicals away from children and pets. As a precaution, buy only as much as you plan to use for treatment, avoiding storage.

Treat the materials outdoors, using rubber gloves, and do not spill the chemicals or solutions. Dissolve the chemicals in a wooden pail or earthen crock as they will spoil metal containers.

Mix no more than two gallons of solution at a time, the ratio one pound of chemical to one gallon of water, and use only one chemical per batch.

In treating material, place it in a mesh or porous bag and dip it into the solution, keeping it submerged for a day or two. Then lift it out, drain it over the container and spread to dry. If you dry on newspapers, when finished, roll up the newspapers tightly and burn in the fireplace.

If you want to give treated cones and wooden blocks as holiday gifts, make bags from dyed mosquito netting as containers.

Save on Fuel

In these days of economizing on fuel, decorate your Christmas tree this year without electrical ornaments.

In olden days, trees were, as Charles Dickens wrote in 1855, laden with "rosy cheeked dollies, hiding behind the green leaves; there were real watches dangling from innumerable twigs; there were jolly, broadfaced little men; there were tambourines, books, trinkets for elderly girls; there were baskets and pincushions in all devices ... There was everything and more."

Also trees were decorated with popcorn and cranberries strung together, gingerbread men, candy canes, baubles, horns of candy and heirloom ornaments.

Remember, an indoor tree can use about 500 watts and a decorated outdoor tree may draw twice as much. You can run a small refrigerator with 500 watts.

The Germans, who reportedly originated the Christmas tree custom, decorated trees with apples to represent the Garden of Eden, later with symbolic wafers and cookies.

Gardeners check list

Shop nurseries for last-minute Christmas gifts. Blooming poinsettias, chrysanthemums, azaleas, camellias and Christmas Cactus are but a few living gift plants that will forever remind the recipient of your thoughtfulness.

Chrysanthemums should be cut back to the ground if you haven't done so already. Wait until February, or later, to prune fuchsias.

Check with your nurseryman on applying preemergence crabgrass control on your lawn this month.

Hardy garden lilies for bloom next spring and summer should be planted now.

Make your first planting of gladiolus as soon as they show up in nurseries. Some are already there, waiting for you to take home and plant.

Here's the Answer

Q. — I took some varnish off an old piece of furniture some years ago and did a good job, using a scraper after the varnish remover had softened the finish. This time, I intend to do the same thing, but the furniture has some carvings on it, and I am sure the scraper will damage them. How do I handle it?

A. — Use a small, old but clean toothbrush. As soon as the old finish starts to wrinkle, rub it with the toothbrush, working very carefully. You may have to repeat the process to get off all the finish, depending on how many coats of varnish there are.

Christmas toys reflecting Bicentennial, women's lib

NEW YORK (AP) — Ms. Bicentennial, made in Hong Kong, garbed in red (pants), white (blouse) and blue (blazer), seems to embody the spirit of children's Christmas toys as the nation nears its 200th year.

In toy shops across the land, now gearing up for their busiest season, this Ms. is joined by an increasing number of dolls who seem to bear the stamp of women's liberation and by even more toys being marketed just in time for the Bicentennial.

The Barbie doll — whose manufacturer, Mattel, says "has always been a very independent kind of a figure" — has her own cabin cruiser this year. Dyna-mite, who joined Barbie as an adult-like doll four years ago, now has an outfit with the women's liberation symbol as its pattern.

On the Bicentennial market, there is a series of Colonial Belles, made in Taiwan, "the women who helped to make our nation great"; a series of Star Spangled Dolls; dolls of Uncle Sam, Abraham Lincoln, George Washington, John Paul Jones and Nathan Hale, among others.

These dolls represent what Ted Erickson of the Toy Manufacturers of America trade group sees as two major themes in toys for the Christmas season: the Bicentennial and the doll being ever more liberated from its chubby, baby image. Erickson also says that in the nostalgia accompanying the Bicentennial there is new interest in the military toys whose sales plummeted in reaction to the Vietnam War.

Erickson noted that the military toys are all designed with World War II, and not Vietnam, in mind.

"It's a look back at America's last just war," Erickson said, and as if mirroring his comment, a series of Military Legends dolls extends from Gen. U.S. Grant to Gen. Douglas MacArthur — but not to Gen. William Westmoreland, best known for the Vietnam conflict.

The military dolls are part of a new dolls for boys trend started by GI Joe, but Erickson noted that there's one step toy makers feel the American public is not ready for yet: traditional baby dolls that weep and wet marketed for boys.

"I don't think the majority of American fathers are ready for their 3-year-old sons to take up motherly chorse," he said.

Indeed, even the liberated woman-like dolls seem to be still more oriented toward traditional female beauty than toward the world of working women.

Dyna-mite, with her women's liberation symbol clothes, can be bought with a Health spa that includes a hip vibrator and reducing wheel. There is no Betsy Ross to go along with Paul Revere and Patrick Henry among Bicentennial dolls. And among Charlie Brown figures, Lucy wears the nurse's outfit and Snoopy the doctor's.

Still, Tiffany Taylor, long-legged and buxom in her golden swim suit, and Derry Dering, the female counterpart to the Evel Knievel doll that the Ideal Toy Co. says was created to "show that a female can be adventurous too," are not the dolls of 20 years ago.

Nor do the Super Gals — Supergirl, Catwoman, Batgirl and Wonderwoman, in her star-spangled tights — seem like the cuddly creatures of the past.

Then, too, there's Growing Up Skipper — twist her left arm and she grows from a "cute and young" girl of about 11 into a "slim and tall and curvy" teenager.

And as the Mego Corp.'s Fred Pierce points out, Dynamite's new outfits are "very hip."

"Like Cher," he explains, referring to the TV entertainer whose revealing outfits made her navel her trademark.

Of course, less hip dolls are still very much in evidence in toy stores

Band's dream to come true

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — The saga of the Lakewood High School Band has ended. Happily, no less.

During the past year, the 205-member band had raised $50,000 to finance a trip to Pasadena, Calif., to participate in the Tournament of Roses Parade on New Year's Day.

The band had booked a charter flight on United Airlines, but the trip appeared to be off after the airline was struck by its machinists. Alternate transportation seemingly was unavailable because of the holiday travel crunch.

But school officials said Wednesday they had finally arranged for another charter, courtesty of Trans-International Airways, to fly the band to California on Christmas night.

"How can you describe a scream of joy?" said Chip Pulcrano, the band's publicity adviser. "The impossible happened, and we're grateful to so many people who pitched in and helped to make the dream come true."

Woman may be next British P.M.

Wilson's days numbered

LONDON (AP) — Margaret Thatcher's chances of becoming Britain's first woman prime minister appear to have improved significantly in the past two weeks.

For the first time since she became leader of the Conservative party in February, the political climate here seems to be moving her way. Among the key signs are:

—The elections in Australia and New Zealand which voted the Laborites out and conservative parties in. Mrs. Thatcher said the pattern was "a shot in the arm" for British Conservatives, a sign that the political pendulum is swinging from the left to the right.

—The death Sunday of Maurice Edelman, a Laborite member of the British Parliament, which until a special election can be held reduces Prime Minister Harold Wilson's majority in the House of Commons from one to none. In theory, Wilson can no longer count on surviving a vote of no-confidence. In practice, he is likely to hang on with the help of independent members.

—Widespread press reports of deep splits within Wilson's cabinet, including resignation threats, over the handling of the key issue facing the nation: the long-troubled economy. Inflation at 25.2 per cent is the highest in the industrialized world. Unemployment at 1.1 million is the highest in Britain since World War II.

None of these factors alone is enough to topple Wilson. Unless defeated on a major issue of confidence, he does not have to call a national election before 1979. And he is a master of surviving with a threadbare edge in Parliament. But taken together, they may indicate the beginning of a change of mood.

David Wood, the political editor of the Times of London, wrote Monday: "There comes a time in the life of governments when you can see the beginning of the end, however long delayed the end may be. The past fortnight may prove, in a year or two, to have been that time."

"It is too soon for Mrs. Thatcher to crow, but certainly not too late for Mr. Wilson to heed the warnings," the pro-Conservative Evening Standard said in an editorial.

The main question, many members of both major parties believe, is how well the government handles the economy. Should Wilson succeed in cutting inflation and unemployment, he is likely to carry the day in Parliament. Should he fail, and should the cabinet split over that failure, he could lose him a confidence vote and have to call an election.

Drug found to combat premature baby disease

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The often-fatal hyaline membrane disease in premature babies can be safely prevented by a drug similar to cortisone, a research team reports.

Studies by Drs. Roberta and Philip Ballard, a husband-and-wife team, showed that premature infants suffering from the disease and treated with the drug betamethasone "did as well as those premature infants who did not have the disease, and probably a little better."

"Early results of continuing followup of these infants indicate that their growth and development are normal," said Mrs. Ballard, who began the study in 1972.

Although betamethasone was previously known to be effective against the disease, Dr. Ballard told newsmen Wednesday that their study indicated the drug is safe for widespread use.

About 70 per cent of the 20,000 premature infants born each year in the nation suffer from hyaline membrane disease because a substance called surfactant — which is necesary to prevent the tiny air sacs in the lungs from collapsing — is not present in the lung tissue at birth. Fifty per cent of these infants die and saving the others "is awfully hard work," said Mrs. Ballard.

The Ballards said they injected betamethasone, a synthetic corticosteroid, into women who had gone into labor prematurely.

Twenty-six women gave birth 3½ months to two months prematurely and 13 infants weighed less than three pounds. One child that weighed only 1¾ pounds is now 3½ weeks old and "going to be fine," said Mrs. Ballard.

Four infants died — two from other complications and two from hyaline membrane disease.

Dr. G.C. Liggins, a New Zealand doctor, was first to show that betamethasone could be used to stimulate the development of surfactant. But experiments on rats indicated that too much of the drug could retard growth and development.

The Ballards wanted to know how much reached the infant when the drug was injected in the mother, and whether that level was harmful.

Through a new biochemical method he developed, Ballard said he and his wife were able to determine the drug never reached dangerous levels in the infant.

Mrs. Ballard works at Mt. Zion Hospital and her husband is associated with the University of California Medical Center, both in San Francisco.

The Place to Buy a Music System

Valley doctors delay slowdown vote

Local doctors did not vote on whether to support a general medical slowdown Thursday night as planned.

A spokesman said that two last-minute rulings by state insurance Commissioner Wesley J. Kinder left the proposals previously discussed by the doctors "up in the air."

The commissioner's ruling that a ceiling of 327 per cent increase be placed on medical malpractice insurance premiums (instead of the announced rate of 486 per cent) was one of the topics considered by the doctors, according to Dr. Fritz Moser, chief of staff at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

This ruling may be challenged in the courts, however, according to representatives from Travelers Insurance Co. The resulting delay could further complicate the already snarled malpractice crisis, some experts believe.

The second ruling of the commissioner discussed at the Thursday meeting of local doctors is the approval of a permit for a physician-owned malpractice insurance company to be formed by members of the Southern California Physicians Council (SOCAP).

The practice of physician-owned insurance companies has already been put into operation in Northern California where the malpractice crisis in California began.

The establishment of the insurance company as a possible temporary solution would require the participation of about 4,500 of the 9,500 physicians currently insured through SOCAP by Travelers in seven Southern California counties to be successful, according to Dr. Jay Palmer, delegate to Los Angeles County Medical Association from the local District 14.

The plan would also require the cooperation of the Hospital Council of Southern California before it could become workable. The proposal submitted to member hospitals is for a $5 per day bed tax placed on the hospitals to form a trust reserve for the insurance company.

Dr. Moser said that Pomona Valley Community Hospital's board of directors endorsed the bed tax plan at its Dec. 18 meeting.

Travelers and its subsidiary company, Phoenix Insurance Co., have 20 days in which to file notice of a court appeal of the insurance commissioner's ruling in relation to the ceiling on premium rates. This may delay the billing to local physicians for the first quarterly premiums of 1976.

In view of the confusion arising from the two rulings of the commissioner and pending the success of SOCAP's attempt to establish an insurance exchange, local doctors will continue "business as usual," said spokesmen.

However, the anesthesiologists and orthopedic surgeons will decline Medi-Cal patients after Jan. 1, because of low reimbursement rates.

GETTING READY

San Bernardino County Supervisor Robert Townsend, center, discusses construction of a new lake at Prado Regional Park with Charles Heick, left, the contractor, and Everett Yates, a county inspector. The lake bed and dam, seen in background, will cover about four acres. Water to fill it will come from natural rainfall and the Chino Basin Municipal Water District. Workers are also digging a seven acre lake nearby. The contractor began work Nov. 3 and expects to have the lakes completed next March. The park will be open next July.

Inmates in prison riot kept in rooms

The 300 inmates of the California Institution for Women in Chino who rioted Tuesday night remained on "lock up" status in their individual rooms this morning, prison authorities reported.

According to prison spokesmen all weekend activities and Christmas activities have been canceled pending a series of meetings with inmate representatives.

The rioting caused an estimated $50,000 damage to the institution as nearly 300 women from the six cottages on the main campus marched on the administration building angered over the cancellation of planned weekend Christmas visits and parties.

The women en route to the main building set numerous small fires and began smashing windows, bringing Chino Police, West End Sheriff's deputies, California Highway Patrolmen, the Chino Fire Department, and dozens of personnel from other local prisons to the facility.

Correctional officers, using tear gas and firing several warning shots, brought the rioting under control. It was the first time in the history of the institution that inmates had rioted on a large scale and the first time tear gas had ever been used to control the rioters.

Prison authorities said this morning that the women are being brought sack lunches to eat in their locked rooms. Wednesday, officers permitted the women to shower for the first time since Tuesday.

Spokesman said the lock-up status will remain in effect as long as necessary.

Peewee basketball

Tryouts for the Pomona Valley YMCA's peewee basketball league will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

Youths from 5 to 12 may participate. All youths will be assigned to a team and compete in league play, which runs for five weeks beginning Jan. 10.

Palmer Canyon residents appeal for help in heading off floods

Palmer Canyon residents have invited citizens of nearby communities to join them Saturday and Sunday in a work party to clean up their area in light of predictions of flooding because of the recent brush fires.

With limited resources, manpower and equipment, residents are interested in obtaining as much extra equipment and muscle from volunteers to clear the stream bed, which will facilitate the flow of water and avoid jams from debris coming down from the higher ranges.

Palmer Canyon Association residents met recently with county flood control district engineers who briefed them on potential dangers.

Association President Mark Lipsey said that coffee and light refreshments will be available to all workers.

The work party will meet at 9 a.m. both days above the mailboxes in the canyon.

Lipsey may be reached at 626-6533.

Dead woman an Alta Loman

A woman found dead Thursday morning in a clump of bushes in front of an Alta Loma church has been identified as that of Sandra Andrews, 34, of 8750 Lomta Ave., Alta Loma, by the San Bernardino County Coroner's office.

Deputy Coroner Phil Alexander said the woman has been reported missing by her daughter since 11:50 p.m. Wednesday. The woman had apparently left her home in a very depressed mood, said Alexander.

An autopsy and toxicology examination have been ordered to determine the cause of the woman's death. The results of the examination will not be completed for several weeks, said Alexander.

Upland collision injures 2

Two persons were injured Thursday afternoon when three cars collided on Foothill Boulevard just east of Campus Avenue in Upland.

Earle Dean Sage, 79, of 303 W. G St., Ontario, the driver of one of the vehicles, and Agnes Gertrude Miller, 57, of 1454 Baldy View Ave., Pomona, the driver of another vehicle, suffered minor injuries.

Police said that Sage, given first aid at the scene for head injuries, refused the ambulance. Mrs. Miller, suffering a neck injury, was treated and released from Doctors Hospital in Montclair.

Police said that Sage's vehicle crashed into the rear end of the Pomona woman's car that was pushed into a third car driven by Steven C. Higley, 19, of 472 W. 23rd St., Upland. Higley was not injured.

Boy, 7, suffers skull fracture

A 7-year-old Chino boy suffered a skull fracture but was in fair condition today after falling from a camper on Rolling Ridge Drive in the Glenmeade area.

High patrolmen said Donald J. Payne of 3972 Aspen Ave. was a passenger in the camper driven by Joyce Little, 35, of 15261 Pine Lane, Chino, Thursday at 3 p.m. The boy apparently opened the door of the camper for an unknown reason, lost his balance, and fell onto the roadway, patrolmen added.

The boy was rushed to Chino General Hospital and later transferred to Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Help sought for Yule baskets

The Mexican-American Urban Coalition of La Verne is making out Christmas baskets for needy families.

Residents of the valley are asked by the group to donate toys and canned food to the Program for Information and Community Services (PICS) section of the Coalition, at 2122 Bonita Ave.

Those who want more information may telephone PICS at 593-7172.

La Verne parks official resigns

Richard Owen of 6300 Canterwood Road has resigned from the La Verne Parks and Recreation Commission after three years of service.

Owen said the pressure of other activities made it difficult for him to devote enough time to the commission.

Councilman Gibson in Upland mayor contest

Upland Councilman George M. Gibson has filed as a candidate for mayor in the Upland municpal election on March 2.

The incumbent mayor, Abner Haldeman, has taken out papers as a candidate for mayor but had not filed as of Thursday.

Gibson was first elected to the council in 1964 and served as mayor in 1968 to 1972. Haldeman became Upland's first popularly elected mayor in 1972.

Because Gibson is not running for re-election to his council seat, the filing date for councilman will be extended five days beyond the Dec. 24 closing date under a new California law.

Jerry L. Morris, 1355 Springfield St., Upland; George E. Kunde, 1045 Shannon St., Upland; and Mrs. Isabel Contreras, 1286 N. Campus Ave., Upland; have taken out papers for the council seat but have not filed.

Mrs. Doreen Carpenter, city clerk for eight years, has filed for re-election. She is a member ot tne executive board of the Southern California City Clerks Association and is serving a second term as an elected officer with the City Clerks Association of California.

Opposing Mrs. Carpenter for city clerk will be Mrs. Mary W. Lucas, 1682 Benton Way, Upland, who filed Thursday. She is a former businesswoman who has been actively working for better animal care in the West End area.

Filing for re-election as Upland's city treasurer is Robert A. Thrall, a certified public accountant with the firm Thrall, Lavanty and Maseel. He has been the city treasurer, a part-time post, since the early 1960s.

Newton in Claremont council race

Richard Newton, appointed last August to fill a vacated Claremont City Council position, has filed his candidacy for the four-year term for which Councilman Frank Hungerford is not seeking re-election.

Newton was chairman of the Claremont Planning Commission when he was appointed to the seat vacated by Gene Block. This post is also up for election in March, but for a two-year term.

Newton, 43, an engineering manager believes there are no crucial campaign issues, but believes there are issues which will require emphasis and special attention over the next few years.

Newton feels that the council and the citizens are faced with the problem of balancing city services with rising costs while keeping taxes down.

He believes that an active program must be implemented to expand and improve Claremont's commercial base.

"We need careful control and guidance of the annexation and development which is now active in the northeast section of Claremont," Newton said.

He called for maintenance and improvement of existing neighborhoods with emphasis on Historical Claremont, the El Barrio Park area and South Claremont.

Newton said that success of the city's dial-a-ride taxi program demonstrates the need for good local public transportation.

Walnut council

Like father, like son: student eyes city post

The 20-year-old son of a former Walnut mayor today declared himself a candidate for the City Council there.

William M. Daley, a pre-law student at La Verne and an Alpha Beta market clerk, said he would like to see the city grow in the proper direction. His father, William Daley, was on the council from 1968 through 1972.

"I am familiar with the problems of the city," he said. "I have attended City Council meetings and studied council minutes."

He is particularly aware of problems in west Walnut, he said.

"I have heard every year of the need for sewers, gutters and street improvements to make the area a more comfortable place to live in but I see nothing done. I want to find out why."

Daley has lived in Walnut a total of seven years. He attended Cal Poly before enrolling at La Verne College.

Others who have taken out nomination papers but have not definitely declared candidacy are Joe Hahn, General Dynamics employe and a city planning commissioner; Councilmen Joe P. Dyer and William Cotten; and Charles Richardson, an assistant project administrator for Southern California Edison Co.

Tax returns are not secret

Your income tax forms are not held in confidence.

Thousands are regularly looked at by the Justice Department, the Securities and Exchange Commission, Congressional committees and other assorted agencies and branches of the federal and state governments. Sometimes for very good reason, sometimes in fishing expeditions for suspected law violations of one type or another and sometimes merely to secure background information as to what kind of a person you are.

In the first half of 1974 alone, the Internal Revenue Service supplied the Department of Justice with 6,114 returns, U.S. attorneys with 9,570, the Securities and Exchange Commission with 238 . . . and on and on and on.

The Civil Aeronautics Board used tax returns to look into profits on charter flights. They were used to investigate alleged kickbacks by a borrower from the Rural Electrification Administration. They have been used by combined strike forces attacking organized crime. Committees have used them to learn who has information on something being investigated. For a time, the data in income tax forms was used to screen prospective jurors in federal cases.

In many instances the user has provided the IRS with no serious or specific justification for seeking the material. In others the IRS has taken the initiative and suggested that another agency ask it for information on an individual.

Some of these forms are widely circulated without adequate controls to various and sundry departments.

There has been a growing demand for tax returns by U.S. attorneys for investigative purposes, with no assurance that these politically appointed, usually politically ambitious men will not use them illegally to discredit political opponents.

Congressional committees have used tax information for developing investigative leads, providing excellent opportunities for political abuse.

As the official Administrative Conference of the United States — which made the study on which much of this column is based — notes in a detailed report provided Congress, some interesting information has been developed on past White House requests for tax returns:

"Early in the Kennedy administration, Carmine S. Bellino, a special consultant to the President, entered into arrangements with the Internal Revenue Service to inspect tax returns and associated documents.

"Similarly, in the Nixon administration, Clark R. Mollenhoff, Deputy Counsel to the President, reached an understanding with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue concerning the inspection of tax returns.

"So far as is known, neither individual had an actual Presidential order to inspect tax returns. They merely exercised the influence of the White House to obtain access to tax information.

"In the Watergate investigation, further evidence was developed that tax return information was improperly transmitted to the White House . . .

"A few weeks after President Ford took office, he issued an executive order designed to control White House access to tax information . . ." But, the Administrative Conference notes, executive orders can be changed at will by any president or his successors.

There is evidence the present head of the IRS, over strong opposition, is attempting to eradicate some of the abuses outlined above. How effective he will prove remains to be seen for he is already in hot water for his efforts.

Just in jest

Here's the way it all came about. — "Bring me your huddled masses," is the invitation extended by the Statue of Liberty to the people in less fortunate nations throughout the world.

So for some time now they have been brought — the Skowloskies, the Werschongs, the Hartnagels, the Studabachs, the Polandavitches, the Klootchbergs — and in due time they become Americanized.

But in spite of their newfound freedom, they continue to huddle. This time, however, they are huddling on our nation's football fields. In fact, they have become so proficient at coming out of huddles and making touchdowns that, in recognition of what she has done for football, the Statue of Liberty has been honored by having a special play named after her. — The Statue of Liberty formation, what else?

Litter pitfalls

Dear Editor:

In order to more clearly understand the late Edwin Z'Berg's proposed California Litter and Resource Recovery Act, I recently attended the Resources, Land Use and Energy Committee's public hearing in Los Angeles on this Bill, AB 2353. It appears that the next step for this legislation will be to go before the Assembly Revenue and Tax Committee.

As a responsible citizen and avid anti-litter ally, I understand that there is much still to be done to control and reduce California's litter and its litterbugs. However, I firmly believe that the approach which is outlined in AB 2353 is wrong. Without attacking every aspect of the proposal let me point out a few of its failings. AB 2353 is a discriminatory bill in that the tax is levied against a minority of packaged convenience items. Only eight of the 22 most prevalent items found in our litter stream must carry the entire burden if this bill is allowed to pass. Such selective regulations and taxations would inhibit the free flow of goods, foods, beverages and other products. What about newspapers and other paper items? Shouldn't they carry their share of the load?

This proposed bill is also discriminatory in that a 1½% tax will be placed on a 15 cent package of gum, which is potentially an 18-26 item litter contributor. The same tax rate will also be charged on a bottle of distilled liquor, which because of content costs much more, but contributes only a possible two items to the litter stream. The point is, in some cases, a higher priced, but lower litter contributor will have to pay more than a lower priced, higher litter contributor!

Furthermore, according to Robert Nunes, State Board of Equalization, in addition to the above pitfalls, the bill will cause unfair enrichment to special tax funds while, other equally important programs that are required to draw from general revenue funds are shortchanged.

Not only is the proposed financing of the act inequitable, but the proposed utilization of funds thus generated is senseless. For example only 2½% of the money will be allocated to education. Why is it that more than 50% of the funds are being allocated to the symptoms of the disease and only the small percentage mentioned above for the prevention of this social disease?

Another point, in reference to senseless fund allocation, is that the bill proposes to spend more than one million dollars on highway litter bins! In a statement made at the recent hearing, G. L. Russell, Chief of Maintenance Division of CALTRANS, said litter on California's highways is more prevalent on urban freeways (65% of CALTRANS pick-up is in Los Angeles-San Francisco Metropolitan areas-High Speed Freeways). This statement was made to point out that it would be senseless to think, that by allocating money for more litter receptacles to be placed on our highways, it would help the urban freeway litter problem. Can you imagine the havoc that would be created if a freeway motorist stopped to deposit this litter in a freeway receptacle? Russell also pointed out that litter receptacles on rural highways are merely "mini dumps." He said there is more litter scattered around these receptacles than where there are no litter containers at all!

I believe that education is the best way to remedy our litter illness. For example Foothill Beverage Co. spends more than $40,000 on anti-litter education annually. We work in mutual support with such non-profit organizations as Keep America Beautiful, Inc., California Anti-Litter League, Pitch In and the National Center for Resource Recovery. More positive actions, such as the above, are needed from industry and government.

Common sense tells us that if a bill like this is effected, it will provide everyone with a license to litter. People will reason "I've paid the tax, now let the state pay to clean it up." — Terry Conner, Pomona

Our Man in Washington
11th commandment not sacred

By TERRY WADE
PB Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The 11th commandment was broken recently by President Ford's campaign manager and Republicans everywhere shuddered.

Growing up believing in only 10 commandments and suddenly, after reaching adulthood, discovering an 11th can be traumatic.

Of course, Ronald Reagan uttered the 11th commandment presumably rendering it a level below the original 10 Moses brought down from the Mount.

Oh yes, the 11th commandment is "Thou shalt not speak ill of a fellow Republican."

Bo Callaway spoke very ill of Ronald Reagan before the Southern Governors Conference and we may have seen the last of the 11th commandment this presidential election.

Sources here close to the Reagan campaign apparently think Reagan will resist the temptation to retaliate, but his supporters will not.

Not being one to openly advocate the breaking of any commandment it is difficult to do it now, but considering the source of the 11th commandment — it is probably a good thing the first stone has been cast.

Republicans, have for some time now felt the need to avoid another Barry Goldwater-Nelson Rockefeller type confrontation.

That is understandable and essential if the party is to survive, but never speaking ill of one another is only a superficial preventive.

The 11th commandment is deplorable if you are a voter. That isn't to say mudslinging and demagoguery should be encouraged.

It is to say that a candidate's weaknesses should be displayed beside his strengths for us all to see.

It is easy enough to criticize the press for not uncovering the weaknesses of candidates. The media should serve this purpose, but there is no rule that says it should be left entirely up to the Fourth Estate.

Who knows the candidate better than his own party?

The Republican party should favor intense party introspection. If Ronald Reagan's reign as governor of California cannot stand up under fire from GOP opponents what will the Democrats do with it?

After all the conservative wing surely believes in the oldest of laws — the survival of the fittest.

The fittest primary candidate makes the fittest general election candidate.

After a dozen years of the 11th commandment the GOP is down to less than 18 per cent of the vote.

Maybe it's time to concentrate on the original 10 and leave the commandment making up to those who are better qualified.

Where there's a will, there's a way!

Reagan signs on Nixon 'spy'

WASHINGTON — Ronald Reagan defended ex-President Richard Nixon's Watergate record until the last incriminating tape was made public. Now Reagan has signed on a key member of the Watergate team, Kenneth Rietz.

Throughout the Watergate uproar, Reagan went out of his way to defend the Nixon "spies" because, he contended, they were not "criminals at heart." Now he has assigned a major role in his campaign to one of Nixon's chief spies.

For during the 1972 campaign, Rietz ran a junior Watergate operation. He formed a network of young spies and dirty tricksters who came to be called the "Kiddie Corps."

One of his undercover operatives, a George Washington University student, was paid $150 a week to infiltrate a peace vigil at the White House and set up the demonstrators for arrest on drug charges.

Rietz also directed the colorful John "Fat Jack" Buckley, who planted a spy in the headquarters of Sen. Ed Muskie, D-Me. For $1,000 a month, the spy slipped folders full of intra-office memos to Buckley, who photographed them with a 35-millimeter camera and delivered the film strips to Rietz.

Like a couple of characters in a spy thriller, Rietz and Fat Jack would meet on street corners near the White House to transfer the clandestine negatives. This was how President Nixon kept tabs on the man who was then considered his most likely Democratic rival.

Nixon's right bower, H.R. Haldeman, was so pleased with the results that he began grooming the 32-year-old Rietz to be the next Republican National Chairman. Rietz actually was preparing to take charge of the 1974 Republican congressional campaign when his Watergate activities hit the headlines. He resigned under fire.

Now Reagan has brought him back into politics. At age 34, Rietz is a shrewd political operator, who handles special events for the Reagan campaign and is also Reagan's chief organizer in California. In fact, Rietz' home is the temporary Reagan headquarters in the state.

Rietz told us he has received "no heat" because of his Watergate connection. But the unscented odor of Watergate lingers.

Footnote: Reagan's press adviser, the able, affable Lyn Nofzinger, also has a slight Watergate aroma. In 1972, he slipped $10,000 of Nixon's ill-gotten campaign cash to a political promoter who used the money to hire members of the American Nazi Party to woo George Wallace supporters into the Nixon camp.

INTELLIGENCE DIGEST: The Soviet-supported guerrillas in Angola, according to secret intelligence reports, are throwing back the American-supported guerrillas on most fronts. Only along the Benguela railroad line, which cuts across the center of the country, have the pro-American forces been holding their own.

—U.S. analysts simply cannot figure how much the Soviets are spending, in dollar equivalents, for military programs. The Soviet budget is too unfathomable, with its hidden expenditures and incomparable costs. The U.S. experts concentrate, therefore, on comparing capabilities rather than costs.

—Chile's hot-headed Ambassador to Washington, Manuel Trucco, has been castigating Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., in private. The Senator has been a thorn in the side of the Chilean dictatorship. In retaliation, Trucco has called Kennedy "young and arrogant" and a "professional demagogue." On at least one occasion, Trucco alluded to the Senator's Chappaquiddick accident, with the remark that Kennedy had allowed the "banner of human rights . . . to sink below murky waters."

Tank jails this junkman

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ohio salvage operator John Coyne is no stranger to civil protest. As a teenager he served 30 days in jail on a contempt of court charge resulting from what he perceived to be an unjust ruling in a dissolution of partnership case. Later he went to jail for 100 days rather than comply with what he felt was an "impossibly unfair" law regarding a fence on his business property.

Now 32, Coyne may be staging his ultimate complaint against the powers that be. He is nearly three months into an indefinite prison term for the crime of keeping a Sherman tank on his land.

The current situation, which would almost be jolly were it not for the implications, is rooted in the historic bane of American jurisprudence — inflexibility. Coyne is an aggressive, unorthodox man who has raised an issue with which, it seems, it is beyond the law's ability to cope. And so he is being severely penalized. Coyne says it's not fair, therefore his new protest; like the late Supreme Court Justice Brandeis, he feels respect for the law comes only from respectable laws.

The background of the matter, actually, is simple enough. Coyne is the proprietor of several dozen acres of land on the edge of the small Ohio farming community of New Richmond. The bulk of the land is legally given over to what Coyne calls the "Boot Hill Junk Yard," and is therefore strewn with the ugliness endemic of that industry. A small piece of the property, however, was in recent years rezoned, possibly to prevent the spread of Coyne's business. It is on this piece that the Sherman tank in question sits — a tank the community fathers call "junk." A local judge has agreed, sentencing owner Coyne to jail until such time as the zoning violation is removed.

The beef? Coyne says the tank is not junk, that it is a quite valuable and poignant creature of American history. He says removing it as mere scrap would demean not only its symbolic significance, but also the army of patriots who rode such vehicles to the victory over Nazi encroachment. thus inside the Clermont County jail, Coyne says he will "rot" behind bars rather than suffer injustice.

Coyne apparently does not have much popular support for his position. Nobody loves a junkman, particularly one who litters the hillsides of a main route into town. Recycling be damned; many in New Richmond, including many who make and enforce the laws, would prefer to be without both Coyne's trash and Coyne's obstinancy. Says his friend and associate Art Meredith: "No doubt about it, a lot of folks got it in for John." Adds a neighbor: "Don't make him no hero."

Prejudice aside, though, Coyne has stiff arguments for being stubborn. For one thing, the zoning laws which have done him in are scandalously discriminatory, not only in New Richmond but across the nation. Often they are used by the few against the few rather than by the many for the many. In Coyne's case, he insists enforcement of the laws is an exercise in harassment: "I have photographic proof of more than 100 zoning violations on land near mine. People near me have old cars and other junk sitting all over their property. Why then is my tank singled out, all of a sudden, as the great violation?"

But beyond the political side of the circumstance, there is the principle of individual rights. Coyne agrees that junk should not be allowed on property zoned otherwise. "But the Sherman tank is not junk, therefore it violates no law." Coyne says the tank is part of his collection of old military vehicles (he also owns six halftracks, two of which have won awards for their restoration). If the tank were only junk, Coyne adds, he would have sold it years ago to "anyone of a dozen" people and institutions showing interest in its purchase.

Thus convinced he is on the side of propriety, John Coyne vows he will remain in jail until the law admits it has been an ass and removes its hooves from his affairs. More than this, he says, he plans to have a second tank moved near the Sherman, "just to prove that I won't give up."

A second tank? Another zoning violation, no doubt. In New Richmond's court that could mean the electric chair.

Health Dept. backs renter's tale of woe

This is about boarded up houses. I have seen some that look very livable but the one that I rented is not.

I lived in a very nice house until I lost my job. I am now going to school at night so I can find a better job.

In the meantime I was forced to move here. I can only afford to pay $100 a month because I only get $200 on welfare.

Neither the heating nor the plumbing works. The walls have been taped up and painted over.

If you shut the bathroom door hard you can't get out because it sticks and there is no door knob.

The ropes that hold the windows are rotten. One window fell on my thumb when I first moved here and I wasn't able to bend it for two months.

The kitchen floor should be taken out and burned. When I cleaned the medicine cabinet the paint fell away leaving black burnt wood. There had been a fire here.

Because I couldn't afford to move I didn't complain until the plumbing went. The bathtub leaks all over the floor. The toilet must be flushed from the inside. That's fun when you have company.

In the kitchen the cold water is running all the time. I don't mean dripping. It's turned on. Try washing dishes when the sink is continuously filling up with cold water.

When the plumbing went out here it also got bad next door. The place I live in has been divided into two units.

We went to the owner, a Pomona attorney, and informed him of all that was wrong. That was more than three months ago.

We did not pay our rent. The manager was waiting when we got home. We told him we would pay when the place was livable.

A week later my neighbor called the health department. When the inspector came he went through her house, then mine. He said the department would be in touch with the owner. The same day the manager brought us eviction notices.

Everybody who is on welfare isn't dirty or destructive of other people's property. Some of us are trying as best we can.

Because I asked for a decent, sanitary place to live in I am in the street unless I can find a miracle. — P. S., Pomona.

We contacted both the Los Angeles County Health Services Department and Valley Association of Cities. VAC is trying to restore the use of boarded up houses.

Kenneth Siemens of the health department said an apartment complex owned by your landlord already was being investigated.

After he talked with us, a health department representative looked at the house-turned-duplex.

On the basis of what he found wrong with the house, both units were posted as uninhabitable.

You and your neighbor had moved. Joe Korpsak, executive officer of VAC, told us you had found a new residence.

The health department set up an administrative hearing with the owner of the property you vacated. The purpose of the hearing is to discuss needed improvements to meet health requirements and determine what progress is being made toward meeting those requirements.

If the hearing fails to bring about the required results, the next step is legal action against the owner.

For some unknown reason I am receiving the Ladies Home Journal. I have written to the subscription department three times to stop sending it. It keeps on arriving. Can you get the Journal people to stop it? — J. K., Pomona

The answer to our inquiry was a letter to you saying the subscription had been canceled. The Journal apologized for the inconvenience caused you and asked you to disregard invoices addressed "in advance."

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Saturday, Dec. 20, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't attempt to burn the candle at both ends today. Your luck, energy and drive have very definite limitations.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Late in the day is not the time to try to resolve serious family problems. Wait till everyone has a chance to sleep on the issues.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be careful today that your remarks aren't too caustic or biting. Someone you'll put down will not forgive readily.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You tend to be a shade selfish today where your self-interests and resources are concerned. You must give a little in order to get.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your resolve grows as the day lengthens. Don't give up on something important just because it doesn't come off on the first try.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is likely to be a rather busy day for you. You're apt to run out of steam rather early in the evening. Don't make it a late night.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Goals that eluded you yesterday are achievable today if you're willing to exert yourself. Be tenacious and you'll succeed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The general drift of today's events will at first appear to be working against you. Conditions will later alter to your satisfaction.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Have faith in yourself and your ideas today. There is a solution for each problem if you take time to think it out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be afraid to bargain a bit today. If you take a firm position, the other fellow will eventually come around to your terms.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll have the opportunity today to let a friend who has been loyal to you know that you're also an ally who can be relied upon.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You may be a bit of a slow starter today. But, once you set your mind to a task, you're capable of gaining desirable results regardless of obstacles.

Your Birthday, Dec. 20, 1975

This coming year can be a very rewarding and profitable one for you if you seek out the market that has a need for your special skills and knowledge.

Ann Landers

Two sides of 'Other Woman'

Dear Ann Landers: I was infuriated by the letter signed "The Other Woman" who was sick at heart because the man she had been sneaking around with for 11 years was dying of cancer. She bemoaned the fact that even though she was "first in his life" she would have to sit in the back of the church at the funeral while his wife sat in front, getting all the sympathy due a perfect wife.

As an R.N. who has seen more than one wife at the beside of a delirious (or dying) husband and listened to him call The Other Woman's name in his delirium, I can tell you it is a heartbreaking thing to watch — especially if children are present, and they often are.

Most wives know about The Other Woman and do their best to hold their heads up while keeping one eye and one ear shut. Too bad someone can't put a gag in the mouth of a cheating husband and tie his tongue up so his last days aren't hell on his long-suffering wife. — On The Other Side

Dear O.S.: Nobody can say this column doesn't give equal time to both sides. Thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for at least 15 years. As a former English teacher, I would give you no better than a C for grammar.

I can't figure out if your strange and often unconventional use of the language is a result of the area where you grew up (Iowa, ugh) or were you poorly educated?

In the last month you used the word "ain't" twice. I realize "ain't" is in the dictionary but it's considered improper usage by respected authorities. Will you respond to this in print, please? — Observer In Waltham, Mass.

Dear Wally: A lot of those respected authorities who wouldn't dream of saying "ain't" — ain't eatin', as Will Rogers said.

As for "Iowa — ugh," did you know that Iowa has a 99 per cent literacy rate? The highest of the 50 states? I accept your apologies.

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this letter and help a lot of people.

You are my father. You work like a dog and bring home a paycheck picked to poverty by taxes. You can't buy my mother what she deserves. Every day means another line of worry on your face. My heart aches when ever you light a cigarette. I would gladly trade my lungs for yours if you would stop. You hardly smile. Your eyes are always sad. You never tell me what bothers you.

You are my mother. You don't have the nice things other wives have. Our home is immaculate. You've worked like a slave for as long as I can remember. Your parents never gave you anything but aggravation.

You never go anywhere, waiting for your husband to come home. He's always too tired for anything but falling asleep on the couch. I know how lonely you must be.

You think I only care about my friends, but you're wrong. They don't make me cry at night. Every time you and dad fight I die a little inside. I love you both. I only wish I could help. — Your Child

Dear Child: I wish I could help, too, but neither of us can. It's up to your parents to seek help. All we can do is hope they will — and soon.

Getting hard-boiled over eggs

The national egg industry was cracked up last week when a Federal Trade Commission judge ordered it to stop proclaiming that there is no evidence of health danger from eating eggs. Next they'll ban "The Egg and I."

Man and boy, I have always been very fond of eggs in every shape and form (usually egg-shaped). I like them fried, scrambled, poached, and boiled, both soft and hard. I like them in eggnoggs; I like an egg in my beer.

But Judge Ernest Barnes has reduced the egg industry to a shell of its former self. He said "There exists a substantial body of competent and reliable scientific evidence that eating eggs increases the risk of heart attacks and health disease." This charge left the hen fruit lobby with egg on its face.

Seems some snoopy scientists discovered — or SAID they did — that eggs have a high chloresterol content which does unpleasant things to one's heart and related appurtenances. Scientists, you will recall, are the people who have brought us all the blessings of the modern world — guided missiles, nuclear bombs, biological warfare and other goodies of civilized nations. Now they've turned on the Easter bunny.

What had Judge Barnes clucking was the National Commission of Egg Nutrition — doesn't that sound impressive? — an industry-organized lobby and promotion group which spends thousands of dollars on ads in "the media" telling the public that "there is absolutely no scientific evidence of any health hazard from eating eggs." I guess that's telling the eggheads!

Experts of the American Heart Association recommend that people limit their cholesterol intake to 300 milligrams a day. Since one egg contains 250 milligrams, a pair of over-easy puts you over the limit before you've finished your morning coffee. What a fowl development!

The Youth Organization for Living Kidneys (YOLK) stands firmly behind egg production. In a confrontation with the Federal Trade Commission, YOLK will not fire until they see the whites of their eyes.

But if we banish eggs, what do we serve the bacon with? What happens to those yummy egg sandwiches? How will the chef's salad taste? What will college students throw at visiting politicians?

The only solution for the FTC is to go the way of government branding of cigarettes. Each egg will be stamped: "CAUTION: Eggs may be dangerous to your health."

Dr. Lamb

Just what is hiatal hernia?

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a hiatal hernia. I've had it now for about four years. Every year I go for an X ray of my stomach, and this time the doctor told me that this hernia went up into my chest. He never told me that before. All he said before was that I had the hernia in my stomach.

Dr. Lamb, is that so? How could it go up into my chest? Since I am 43 years old he told me that there is nothing he can do for me. It hurts and is very uncomfortable. He gave me some Donnatal pills to take three times a day before meals. When I run out of pills I'm supposed to go back to him.

Now, if he can't do anything for me why go back? He didn't even tell me what to do for myself, what kind of food to eat or what to drink.

I don't smoke or drink alcohol. Would you please tell me what I can do for my hiatal hernia? I'm a nervous wreck over it.

DEAR READER — Perhaps I can help. You have not understood your doctor completely. Let's start at the beginning.

We all have a hole in the diaphragm that separates the chest cavity from the abdomen. The hole is where the esophagus (food tube) passes through the diaphragm to join the stomach. The stomach is just under the diaphragm, literally lying just under the rib cage.

That hole enlarges in many people as they get older, and, what it is big enough, part of the stomach or the area of the stomach where it joins the esophagus slides through the hole into the chest cavity. That is what a hiatal hernia is, a protrusion or hernia of part of the stomach through the diaphragm into the chest cavity. So, you have had that as long as you have had a hiatal hernia. It is nothing new.

A very high percentage of people over 40 have them. Women develop them during pregnancy because of the enormous increase in pressure inside the abdominal cavity. That should give you some idea how abdominal obesity is related to developing a hiatal hernia. Fortunately, in young women, the condition doesn't often persist after pregnancy.

You can do a lot for problems related to hiatal hernia. What most people need to do are things they can do for themselves without a prescription. It involves changing a lot of your usual living patterns.

The point in treating hiatal hernia is to avoid having any acid digestive juice leak backward into the lower esophagus. That causes "heartburn" or burning irritation in the pit of the stomach. It will also damage the lower esophagus in time. You should avoid lying down after eating, sleep with your bed elevated, avoid constructing garments around the waist, and develop a life style to help keep your stomach empty whenever you lie down.

Of course, you may need to lose weight if you have any problem with abdominal obesity. By doing all these things you can protect your lower esophagus and avoid future complications while relieving your current symptoms.

Jacoby's bridge

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

North and South were experts playing together for the first time. North thought they were playing jump raises as invitational-not forcing. South thought they were playing them as forcing. That, plus a little mutual optimism got them to six hearts.

South looked at the dummy with distaste. There was at least one trump loser, plus an apparent diamond loser. He couldn't do anything about the trump loser; perhaps he could take care of the diamonds.

He hummed, "With a little bit of luck", and proceeded to make the contract.

He started by playing the ace of hearts. Both opponents followed and there was only one heart loser. Then he cashed the second high spade; played king of clubs; ace of clubs; small club to be ruffed. Next came the ace and king of diamonds followed by a small trump.

West won and had to lead a black card. South promptly discarded dummy's losing diamond, ruffed in his own hand and claimed the slam.

We open just what the books recommend — one spade. This bid has been part of standard bidding since contract was invented. It is not perfect, but little is.

Fish in love gets charges

It's now known that a South American male electric fish discharges a different sort of electrical current than does a South American female electric fish. And our love and War man says research reveals those fish do a lot of tampering with their built-in rheostats when they approach each other. To say they get a charge out of the association is to put it precisely, however low the vernacular.

SO YOU THOUGHT Louisiana was the only state in the nation without any counties, did you? Not so. Alaska has no counties, either. What Louisiana calls parishes, Alaska calls divisions.

APOSTLES

Q. "The Apostle John was the only one of the 12 who died of natural causes. What did the others die of?"

A. Ten were murdered, by crucifixion or otherwise. How Matthew died remains in some doubt, although most biblical scholars think he was murdered, too.

NOW THE POSTMEN estimate that they'll deliver this year 44 Christmas cards per family.

IT'S UP AROUND the Arctic Circle where you see those special rabbits that run around on their hind legs when scared.

VIOLINISTS

As late as 300 years ago, most persons who played violins did so by fingering same with the right hand and bowing with the left. What eventually brough about the reverse technique I just can't say.

MEDICAL MATTERS: . . . A frequently quoted medical journal reports that three out of five women taking the Pill are unmarried . . . JUST ABOUT 17 out of every 100 doctors practicing hereabouts were trained in foreign countries . . . STATISTICAL ODDS indicate that you and I each will need an ambulance twice in our lives . . . EYE DOCTORS say their recent studies show 97 out of every 100 Americans over 45 need glasses . . . WHY WOMEN generally remember their dreams better than do men is another medical mystery.

ON THE DAY that Prince Charles of England got his bachelor's in history from Cambridge, he became the first heir to the British throne ever to win a university degree.

Ocean storms sink more than 100 big ships a year. Even today. Wilted bodies drift down. Cluttered cargoes, too. The fierce winds and great waves pass. With some exceptions, you don't hear much about them. The owners wait, then file their insurance claims. They're not interested in publicizing their losses. The people who know about it all are the salvage men and Lloyd's of London.

Q. "HOW MANY famous men can you name who were born on the Fourth of July?"

A. Nathaniel Hawthorne, Calvin Coolidge, Stephen Foster and George M. Cohan. Any others?

BOTH WORKER ants and honeybees just mope around doing nothing about half the time, I'm told.

U.N. ends 20th annual session in bitterness and controversy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly has ended its 30th annual session in bitterness and controversy over some of the resolutions it passed and over the assembly's own future.

"For the United States, the 30th General Assembly has been a profound, even alarming disappointment," U.S. Ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan told the final session Wednesday.

Moynihan, a center of controversy because of his hardhitting speeches, said that throughout the 13-week assembly, "this splendid hall has ... repeatedly been the scene of acts which we regard as abominations ...

"Throughout the world, individuals and governments have observed this General Assembly with dismay," he asserted. He accused the assembly of "mindlessly" pretending to be a legislative body with the power to bind governments. In the future, he said, the assembly should strive for consensus rather than grind out "resolutions that condemn, that accuse, that anathematize."

The only reply to Moynihan in the assembly was a mock resolution by Saudi Arabian delegate Jamil Baroody forgiving him "for any misconceptions he may have formed about the United Natiions."

After the adjournment, Ambassador Abdalla Jaccoub Bishara of Kuwait told newsmen the American delegate had "sung an infantile swan song." And Radha Krishna Ramphul of Mauritius said: "Any government of the United States which wants to kick around the U.N. will not be a government for long because the American people want the U.N."

But the assembly president, Prime Minister Gaston Thorn of Luxembourg, agreed with Moynihan's call for consensus action. He urged the delegates to break away from repeating well-known national policies and launch "a systematic search for a genuine consensus." This, he said, would give "that essential moral authority" which is the assembly's only strength.

The major political resolution of the 1975 assembly enjoying general support was a declaration against "torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment" of prisoners.

The most controversial resolution was the declaration, sponsored by the Arabs and the Communists, that Zionism, the movement for a Jewish national homeland in Palestine, is a form of racism. Moynihan during a television program Wednesday called it "a self-inflicted wound from which the reputation and integrity of the General Assembly may not survive in our time."

Also controversial were a group of resolutions providing new political status for the Palestine Liberation Organization. The assembly urged that the PLO be invited to the Middle East peace negotiations in Geneva whenever they resume and set up a 20-nation committee to plan a program for the Palestinians to gain nationhood.

Israeli Ambassador Chaim Herzog told newsmen the assembly, with its numerous anti-Israeli resolutions, "has resolved itself out of being an important organization. It has become its own worst enemy." But he said Israel was not planning to boycott the assembly.

With many countries abstaining, the assembly adopted pairs of conflicting resolutions supporting both North and South Korea and both sides in the dispute over the Spanish Sahara. Thorn said this sort of thing could paralyze the U.N. Secretariat and "above all it damages the credibility of the United Nations," its only source of strength.

The assembly adopted some 20 resolutions supporting various proposals for regional nuclear-free zones and disarmament and decrying the lack of progress on disarmament. It increased the United Nations from 138 to 144 members by admitting six newly - independent countries: Cape Verde, Sao Tome-Principe, Mozambique, Papua-New Guinea, Surinam and the Comoro Islands.

South Africa stayed away to avoid the possibility of being suspended, as it was in 1974. The assembly voted another condemnation of its racial segregation policies and continued rule over South-West Africa and of the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Japan for trading with it. —

Permissive, parole programs result in failure

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles on the prison and parole systems in California, tracing their origins, scandals, reform and how it came to be that the prison population is being reduced by nearly 1,000 each month under a policy instituted this year by the State Department of Corrections, the Adult Authority, and Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.)

BY STATE SEN. H. L. (BILL) RICHARDSON AND TONY CIMARUSTI

One kind of permissive program and parole practice after another has been tried in the past several years in California in an effort to make life as easy as possible for convicted criminals.

A common denominator in these so-called programs is the fact that little or no evidence exists to show that they are successful in combatting crime or in really helping convicts.

Some of the programs are:

Work Furlough — Convicts are given passes to work in the community and must return to the institution (prison) each night. At one point, in 1972, this kind of program out of the Don Lugo Work Furlough Center at Chino was such a scandal that the state Attorney General's office investigated and came up with these findings:

Narcotics, dangerous drugs and accompanying paraphernalia were brought into Don Lugo.

Use and possession of alcoholic beverages on the Don Lugo grounds "were flagrant and obvious to the staff . . ."

Three incidents were confirmed in which inmates had handguns.

Pass provisions of penal sections were "stretched to their limits by Don Lugo management, thereby permitting questionable use of these provisions and on numerous occasions outright abuse thereof."

State funds in the amount of $7,512.04 were missing. One inmate clerk was believed to have embezzled $1,000, but there was no trace of the rest.

There was a whole lot more — the report ran 182 pages, single-spaced and typewritten on 8 x 10 paper, but I said then: "It adds up to a massive failure in management."

Compared to the Adult Authority policy which is allowing the release of literally thousands of convicts today, the Don Lugo situation was a minor incident.

Raymond Procunier was head of the Department of Corrections at the time of the Don Lugo scandal and he is currently the head of the Adult Authority during the parole release scandal.

Probation subsidy — This is a program dreamed up by the state parole management in which the state pays a county probation department $4,000 NOT to send a criminal to state prison. Thus the pressure is put by the state on local probation officials NOT to send more criminals to prison, but to keep more of them in local, community-based treatment programs. In fact, it is the practice of many state parole agents to intervene any legal way they can to keep a parolee from returning to prison. So, parole violators are not automatically returned to prison to finish their sentences. Some of them are in your town, in your county, and the county is being paid to keep them there.

Parole practices — Parole officers have peace officer status, and act as officers of the law — at least they used to. But contemporary prison management frowns on parole officers acting like law enforcement personnel. Permissive penology, run by the social welfare mentality makes the parole agent an adversary of the police, when he or she should work in concert with local law enforcement. Many really good parole agents have left that profession as the policy of top management has become intolerable. There are some good ones left, but they must adhere to department policy, however reluctantly. Here are the words of a supervising parole agent a few years ago, talking to inmates:

"Parole has been changed. We are not cops any more. We are there to help you. You can even commit crimes and we will try to get you off."

One result of the msimanagement was a management survey of the Department of Corrections conducted in 1972 by a special task force appointed by Dr. Earl W. Brian, then secretary of the Health and Welfare Agency.

It was a nice report, but very little really happened to change anything after it was completed. Though many things in that report bear repeating, because there has been no noticeable change in these situations in the past three years, space limitations will permit only a few:

"In the opinion of a number of CDC (California Department of Corrections) employees, there is no meaningful and realistic planning being conducted by the CDC.

"The nature of the inmates has changed radically to a more dangerous, maladjusted, violent person. Statistics confirm increased assaults upon correctional officers, frequent escapes, violence inside the institution, organized efforts from outside the institution directed to inmates to participate in demonstrations, violence and undisciplined conduct, inmate communication systems designed to thwart department/institution policies and procedures are the elements that exist.

". . . had the CDC adequately planned for the violence and disruption . . . evidenced in the institutions, quite possibly the atmosphere would be more favorable."

". . . it was found that the organization at the director's level was cumbersome . . . The task force feels that the span of control is too broad for effective management by one man.

"The concensus among Task Force members is that staffing is excessive at the middle and upper management levels. Serious personnel shortages exist at the lower or line levels, thus adversely affecting efficient program implementation.

"As an example, there is an abundance of supervisors in the parole structure; there is a shortage of parole agents.

"Significant criticism of CDC management is the failure to measure program success, correct administrative and supervisory failures, and to develop a system of supervision to insure compliance with directives, procedures and operating standards.

(It is our belief that management does not want to know about program failure and doesn't want anyone else to know, either. Thus it is that statistics are manipulated accordingly so that the real rate of failure is most difficult to ascertain.)

"The existence of these shortcomings (program failures) and others supports the contention that there is no realistic effort on the part of CDC management to identify weak performances, make changes to raise performance standards and to maintain adequate control over the many functions of the department.

"The director (Raymond Procunier, now the chairman of the Adult Authority) is outspoken in his policy that failure to achieve department standards will be identified and dismissal, reduction or reassignment to a lesser position will follow. Inquiry with the Personnel Board reveals that no dismissals for cause can be identified among staff personnel. The only deduction can be that all staff personnel meet the desired standards.

"Little information is available about corrections successes and failures. Research tends to produce voluminous amounts of statistics which are basically meaningless. Much reliance is placed on intuition.

"Little is known about the amount or the causes of recidivism. The term itself is ill-defined. No one estimates the percentage of crimes that are committed by probationers, parolees, and inmates who have been discharged from the CDC.

". . . No estimate of the indirect cost to the public of the failure of the CDC to rehabilitate inmates and prevent crimes against person and property has been calculated.

"There is a dearth of research as to which inmates repeat criminal conduct and the causative factors. Even less research is directed toward determining which inmates do not engage in criminal activities and the reason therefor.

"A DECISIVE SHIFT FROM INCARCERATION TO PROBATION AND PAROLE ON A LARGE SCALE HAS TAKEN PLACE WITHOUT A RESEARCH PROGRAM TO EVALUATE ITS SUCCESS OR FAILURE. (Emphasis added) The probation subsidy program illustrates this lack of evaluation. The most elementary data base is lacking . . ."

"There is need for a statewide integrated research and evaluation system to handle all levels of corrections program decisions should be based on an analysis of their success or failure . . .

"Statistics are not produced or compiled by disinterested parties. When an organization does research about itself, there is a natural tendency to make the figures look good or at least not so bad

"Most staff personnel morale issues seem to revolve around staff security; the impact of probation subsidy resulting in declining intake; lack of long-range planning for future institutions, and over-all policy and direction of handling the harder core population now contained within the department. There was some feeling expressed that top management had abandoned the lower line staff and there was a lack of support and help . . ."

(I have been told by correctional officers that the situation not only has failed to improve but has become even worse. Virtually every move to make life easier for the convict results in putting the correctional officers in increasingly greater mortal danger.)

The report goes on and on, pointing out one inadequacy after another in the management of the Department of Corrections and the parole operations.

There is one line, however, which ought to be engraved in large letters, laminated and placed on the wall of every permissive parole agent, prison official, legislator and anybody else who constantly bleeds for the criminals.

Because it has been ignored, California citizens are being murdered, robbed, raped, bombed and assaulted in greater numbers than ever as 1975 comes to a close.

The line states:

"Parolees represent the most dangerous assaultive segment of society."

Two die in house fire

WARNER SPRINGS (AP) — On Wednesday morning, Evelyn Duro left the Los Coyotes Indian Reservation to get a Christmas tree for her woodframe home.

When she returned that afternoon, firemen were hosing down the smoking remains of her house. Inside were the bodies of 83-year-old Mary Norte and Mrs. Duro's three-year-old daughter Ramona, coroner's officials said.

A spokesman for the California Division of Forestry said the blaze apparently started when the elderly woman poured kerosene on a burning wood stove. It flared up and ignited the roof, the spokesman said.

Fire fighters said two cars also were destroyed by the flames.

L.B. Poly proves it's No. 1 for now

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Correspondent

There can be little doubt concerning the identity of the best high school basketball team in the CIF. At least until Tuesday.

That's when top-ranked Long Beach Poly and second-ranked Santa Barbara will next meet, at the Dons' gym in Santa Barbara.

But for now, the Poly Jackrabbits definitely rule the roost after outplaying the Dons, 41-30, Thursday night for the championship of the San Dimas Tournament of Champions at Cal Poly.

All-Tournament Team
First team
Johnny Nash and Michael Wiley (Poly), James Hunter and Steve Crandall (Santa Barbara), Cliff Sanchez (Verbum Dei), Ron Baxter (Dorsey).

Second team
Dan Ramsey and James Wilkes (Dorsey), Clive Johnson (Poly), Ed White (Santa Barbara), Marcus Hamilton (Verbum Dei), Michael Anderson (Pasadena).
Outstanding player: Johnny Nash (Poly).

Dorsey took third place by nipping Verbum Dei, 58-56, and Pasadena won the consolation title, 54-43 over Gardena.

Tournament Director Bob Baiz, who hinted after the first-round games of Monday and Tuesday that this year's San Dimas Tourney may be the last because of poor attendance, was pleased with the turnout Wednesday and Thursday.

"We'll go another year," he said. That's good news for college basketball coaches, who get a look at top prospects each year in the Tournament of Champions. In attendance this year were Bob Boyd of USC and Gene Bartow of UCLA, as well as representatives of Indiana, North Carolina, University of Nevada at Las Vegas, Washington, Hawaii and of course Cal Poly, along with several other universities.

"They're a super team, and I hate to think about playing them again so soon," said Poly coach Ron Palmer about Santa Barbara. "But we have two All-America types in Johnny Nash and Michael Wiley and they're just too much for James Hunter."

Hunter, an All-America selection last year, led the Dons with 10 points Thursday night. Nash and Wiley tossed in 16 and 15, respectively. All three were first-team all-tournament picks, with Nash voted the tourney's outstanding player by coaches and press.

As the score indicates, the championship game was extremely slow-paced. Santa Barbara, even after falling 12 points behind by halftime (28-16), was not at all aggressive on defense, and the Jackrabbits spent considerable time passing the ball back and forth.

Don coach Jack Trigueiro, quite vocal throughout the game, instructed his defenders to simply "come out and go back" when Poly had the ball. The Dons, playing zone defense, would come out from the key briefly toward any Poly player who had the ball, but would then retreat without applying any pressure. Consequently, the winners ate up huge chunks of time passing in the second half.

"Had I been in that position — down by 10 or 12 points — I would have instructed my players to come out and force the opponents' hand," said Palmer after the game.

"But since they were willing to come down court and pass the ball five or six times before a shot even though they were behind, we were certainly willing to pass it 11 or 12 times before a shot," continued Palmer.

"If there was one thing that greatly contributed to our win tonight (Thursday), it was our defense. It was outstanding. We are very patient on defense.

"We were able to go inside quite a bit in the second quarter," continued Palmer, "and the defense did the rest."

Nash and Wiley each made eight points in the second period as the Jackrabbits outscored the Dons, 16-10, for the 12-point halftime lead.

Poly indeed worked mostly from the inside on offense, as all but three of its points were scored by Wiley, the center, and Nash and James Hughes, the two forwards. The 'Rabbits picked up four three-point plays in the first half and would have had another except for a missed free throw.

The Dons tallied 14 points in the second half to Poly's 13 as a total of just 29 shots were attempted during the last two quarters.

The Verbum Dei Eagles turned a rout into a close game in the third-place contest, but wound up losing by two points to Dorsey.

Dorsey used a 14-point spurt in the second quarter to build a 34-8 lead, but the Eagles then came back with nine unanswered points for a 34-17 halftime score.

A 12-point spree in the third quarter moved Verbum Dei, the tournament champion the last two years, to within nine (41-33), and the Eagles trailed just 45-43 with one period remaining.

But when Verbum Dei pulled to with a point, 56-55, with 40 seconds left in the game, and had the ball out of bounds, Dorsey's Ronald Baxter stole the inbounds pass and teammate Eric Gaines was fouled. He made one of two shots, enough to ice the victory.

The Eagles' Cliff Sanchez, high scorer with 22 points, and Baxter, with 13, were selected for the all-tourney first team.

Throw away the jokes about lack of Angel power

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

All those jokes about the punchless Angels can be thrown into the trash can.

It wasn't very funny to the officials in Anaheim last summer when the Halo bats could connect for only 55 home runs to fall short of Roger Maris' record.

General Manager Harry Dalton decided to do something about it and he did by trading for Bobby Bonds and Bill Melton, two sluggers who have gained fame for their ability to hit the long ball.

The Angels introduced their two new stars to the press at the Big A Thursday afternoon and the usual forecasts of success were overflowing.

"I'm thrilled to have Bonds and Melton with the Angels," Dalton said. "We were going for balance. Now we feel we have power to go with our speed and pitching. Fans will see a new look with the Angels."

Dalton has been knocked some for giving up two starting pitchers in Bill Singer and Ed Figueroa to obtain the hitters.

"It's a lot easier to produce a pitcher than a long ball hitter," Dalton said in his defense. "I am certain we will come up with the pitchers."

Since both Bonds and Melton grew up in Southern California, they are naturally happy to be "home".

However, their initial reactions to the news of their trades were quite different.

Bonds was surprised to leave the New York Yankees while Melton wanted to get away from the Chicago White Sox.

"Yes, I was surprised," admitted Riverside native Bonds. "I played an entire year with the Yankees with a bad knee and was still able to hit 32 home runs and do a lot of things."

Melton, who grew up in Duarte and played at Citrus College, added, "I knew I would be traded because I have asked for a deal for two years. Something had to happen. Chicago needed a complete turnover and it is getting it."

One of the main reasons Melton wanted out from the Sox was his battles with controversial announcer Harry Caray.

"Harry is one hell of an announcer," Melton said. "It's a shame he doesn't just stay with his talent. Instead, he has to get personal in his attacks. He would bring up the families and everything else."

"I sometimes felt Harry was more interested in promoting himself rather than the ball club. He brought out the boos against me. It got so bad even my kids were booed at the father-and-son game. That's when I knew I had to get out. There was only one reason for it and that is Caray."

Melton said one of his problems in Chicago is he's a slow starter every season and it takes awhile for him to get going.

"I honestly feel like I'm starting my career all over again," he said. "I'm coming off a poor season but I was still able to drive in 70 runs."

As far as playing near his Mission Viejo home, Melton added, "It's a funny feeling for me. After 12 years, I am finally going to be able to get on the freeway and drive to work. I've always wanted to play in Anaheim Stadium and this is where I wanted to be traded."

It appears like Manager Dick Williams will use Melton as a designated hitter rather than third base.

"I feel I am too young (30) to be a designated hitter but I will do whatever Williams wants me to do," Melton answered. "I have never complained with a manager. He has enough problems."

Bonds gives the Angels a true superstar, a status he has earned in his career with the Giants and Yankees.

Probably Bonds' greatest accomplishment is being the only player in major league history to hit 30 home runs and steal 30 bases in one season three times. Only five have ever done it at least once.

Bonds says he will be more relaxed with the Angels then when he broke in with the Yankees last year.

"There is no pressure on me here like there was in New York," Bonds said. "I'm not going to concern myself with trying to impress the fans here the way I felt I had to in New York. I'm just going to play the game here the way I know how."

"In New York, there was so much talk about the Yankees winning the pennant because of the additions of Jim (Catfish) Hunter and myself. I tried to prove myself right away and it hurt me. I tried to do too much."

Bonds is happy to play with the Angels.

"When I left the Giants, my first choice would have been the Angels and New York second," he said.

Bonds likes the Angels' chances.

"I hope I can help make the Angels a contender," he said. "I feel Bill (Melton) and I will take a lot of pressure off of the younger players. We have two solid pitchers in Nolan Ryan and Frank Tanana and the pitchers won't have to be afraid to give up a run now."

"Getting Melton takes a lot of pressure off me," Bonds added, "and both of us will take pressure off of Leroy Stanton."

Another thought is the advantage for the lefthanded batters. With righthanders Bonds, Melton and Stanton, the opposing clubs will be reluctant to pitch righthanders against the Angels.

Bonds is looking forward to playing for Williams.

"From what I know, Dick likes to gamble to win and that's the way I like to play," he said. "I hope he lets me run on my own. I have since I was 12 and it's the way I play the game."

Apparently, Bonds has recovered from his bad knee. An operation wasn't necessary.

Finley goal: 'vex Veeck'

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner Charles O. Finley of the Oakland A's says he intends to "vex Veeck and out-Veeck Veeck."

Finley began Thursday by hiring his 11th manager for the A's—Chuck Tanner, who only the day before had been axed gently as manager of the Chicago White Sox by Bill Veeck, longtime baseball impresario and new owner of the team.

Tanner had managed the Sox for the past five seasons, and with three years remaining on his $60,000 per year contract, it wasn't coincidental that his contract with Finley also is for three years.

"I feel outstandingly exotic, or whatever the word is," said Tanner. "Both men (Finley and Veeck) are paying me but I'm working for Charlie. This is really something."

Finley, who reportedly voted against Veeck's purchase of the White Sox at last week's winter baseball meetings, refused to disclose contract details.

"I won't say how much I'm going to pay him, but if I give him $10,000 a year, Bill Veeck will have to pay him the other $50,000," Finley said.

Finley made the announcement by telephone from his 27th floor apartment overlooking Chicago's Lake Michigan shoreline.

Veeck had invited Tanner to stay with the White Sox in any other capacity after hiring Paul Richards on Wednesday to manage his team.

Tanner, 44, succeeds Alvin Dark as manager of the A's. Finley fired Dark at the end of last season after the West Division champions failed to reach the World Series for the first time in four years.

Tanner took over after the 1970 season, when the Sox had the worst record in baseball, and was named Manager of the Year in 1972.

Tanner, who could have collected his $60,000 sitting at home watching baseball on television, said he accepted Finley's offer because, "I can't just sit around; I have to manage. I love it. The money doesn't mean a thing."

Finley also is general manager of the A's and has been known to spend as much time being involved in his club's field operations as its office operations. Of the 10 previous managers Finley has had since purchasing the A's in 1961 only Dick Williams has lasted three seasons.

Tanner, when asked who would run the A's, cheerily replied: "Charlie Finley and Chuck Tanner.

"I'm really happy to be able to manage a club with the ability of the A's," he said. "They didn't win it (the American League pennant) last year (the 1975 season) but they have a lot of pride. All they need to get back on top is for the season to start again."

Tanner said he plans to take coaches Al Monchak and Joe Lonnett to Oakland with him from Chicago. But Tanner's pitching coach, Johnny Sain, is not making the move because Finley already had rehired Wes Stock as the A's pitching coach.

Tanner, a former first baseman-outfielder, managed several minor league teams before becoming pilot of the White Sox in 1971.

Zone press helps Poly win, 96-80

SAN DIEGO — Using an effective zone press, Cal Poly Pomona outscored host Point Loma College by 20 points in the second half en route to a 96-80 win Thursday night.

The Broncos trailed in the contest 47-43 at the half and Pt. Loma increased that margin to 52-45 early in the second half.

However, at that point Bronco coach Don Hogan went to a zone press, forcing the Crusaders into numerous turnovers and hurried shots.

Poly outscored the home team 23-6 in the next few moments to take the lead and salt the game away. Paul Newton's tip-in with 14:51 left in the game put Poly on top 57-56 and the Broncos never trailed thereafter.

"The zone press helped us come alive," noted Hogan. "It's a gambling defense but we had to do something to get stirred up to play. It looked like we were still suffering from jet lag in the first half."

Hogan was referring to the Broncos' recent road trip back east on which they dropped five straight outings.

Leading the way for Poly Thursday was guard Joe Sills. Sills had his best night of the year with 32 points, those coming on 13 field goals (in 25 attempts) and a perfect six-for-six at the free throw stripe.

Jack Gamulin, starting at guard for the first time this season, added 21 for the victors while Newton had 17 and led all rebounders with 10.

The schedule now gets tougher again for Hogan's troups, as they travel north Saturday to play Stanford University at Palo Alto. Gametime for that one is set for 8 p.m.

Bruins make Missouri 85th victim in a row at Pauley

By The Associated Press

The sixth-ranked UCLA Bruins racked up their 85th straight home court victory, and the 12th-ranked and unbeaten Washington Huskies extended their winning string to six games with easy nonconference basketball victories Thursday night.

UCLA got 25 points from Richard Washington in handing the Missouri Tigers their first defeat, 83-71. The Bruins ran off 13 straight points midway in the first half to take a 39-21 lead and Missouri never threatened seriously after that in spite of Willie Smith's 24 points.

Clarence Ramsey scored 22 points and James Edwards 20 for Washington as the Huskies downed Seattle Pacific 93-72.

San Jose State, 5-2, will be at Washington Saturday night when UCLA will be host to Seattle.

In other Thursday night games, Fresno State, 4-4,,lost 73-70 in overtime at Colorado State, 4-1; Seattle won at Portland 64-51 and Nevada-Reno broke a nine-year-old school scoring record by beating visiting Southwest Louisiana 116-80.

The upcoming weekend schedule features the annual Cable Car Classic at the Cow Palace with the 14th-ranked San Francisco Dons, 5-1, meeting Oral Roberts of Oklahoma, whose 5-1 record includes an upset over Southern California a week ago. That game follows tonight's opener between Providence, also 5-1, and Santa Clara, 3-2.

Three Pacific-8 Conference members are in tournament play in the midwest — Oregon at the Indiana Classic, Oregon State at the Kentucky Invitational and Washington State at the Dayton, Ohio, tournament where Long Beach also is playing.

In the Roadrunner Invitational at Las Cruces, N.M., Pacific, 4-2, plays the opener against Nebraska, 2-3, tonight, with Denver, 3-3, vs. New Mexico State, 5-1, in the second game.

Southern California entertains Howard tonight and Colorado Saturday.

Other games tonight include Chico State at Pepperdine, Fullerton State at Boise State, University of San Diego at San Diego State and Nevada-Reno at Brigham Young.

Thirteenth-ranked and unbeaten Nevada-Las Vegas tries for its eighth victory Saturday night on its home court against Old Dominion.

California, 4-1, returns from an 11-day layoff Saturday night in Kentucky against Morehead State, 1-2. Stanford, 2-2, also coming off an 11-day break for final exams, is host Saturday to Cal Poly-Pomona.

In additional Saturday night games, Northridge State is at Loyola, Portland at Pepperdine, Fresno State at Wyoming, Fullerton State at Idaho State and St. Mary's at Bakersfield State.

Lakers get dunked by a rookie

ATLANTA (AP) — The youngest player ever to start a National Basketball Association game just figured it was the thing to do. And it brought the house down.

Bill Willoughby, Atlanta's 18-year-old rookie, ripped in a dunk shot in the closing minutes of the Hawks' 114-98 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers Thursday night and went into the rubber legs dance created by Billy "White Shoes" Johnson of the Houston Oilers — of the National Football League.

"Dunking a basketball is sort of like spiking a football," said Willoughby. "That was my first dunk in the NBA so I felt like doing the dance."

An Omni crowd of 10,645 roared its approval for the Englewood, N.J., youngster who finished with 13 points and a team high 12 rebounds in his first NBA start.

His final basket came out of the corner with only 50 seconds remaining, and John Drew stepped to the scorer's bench and said, "I'm going in for Willoughby. We are going to get the kid a standing ovation."

The victory moved Atlanta two games ahead of Washington and Houston in the Central Division. It was the only NBA game of the night.

In American Basketball Association action, the Virginia Squires edged the New York Nets 94-90 in overtime and the San Antonio Spurs downed the Kentucky Colonels 115-102.

The Hawks never trailed after a 50-50 deadlock at halftime, breaking on top for good three minutes into the final quarter at 58-56 on a pair of free throws by Tom Van Arsdale.

The Lakers stayed close, 76-72, after three, but Atlanta broke it open in the final period as Dwight Jones tallied 10 points and Willoughby and Drew nine each.

Tom Henderson led the Hawk scoring with 21 points and Drew had 20. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led all scorers with 32 points for the Lakers, and he also had 20 rebounds.

"I did have butterflies at the start," said Willoughby, who tallied only four points in the opening half. "I was a little tight. I wanted to show some things I could do."

Spurs 115, Colonels 102

George Gervin scored 32 points to spark the Spurs, who built a 57-46 lead at the half. The Colonels were led by Artis Gilmore with 25 points.

"I think San Antonio has as good or better a starting five as anyone in the league," said Kentucky Coach Hubie Brown. "They've got the right guys to start and they've got the right guys to come off the bench."

Squires 94, Nets 90

Reserve forward Mel Bennett scored on a rebound tip-in in overtime to break the game's 10th tie. Bennett's basket was duplicated by Jan van Breda Kolff with 21 seconds remaining as the Squires ended a five-game losing streak.

Virginia rookie Ticky Burden led all scorers with 33 points while New York's Julius Erving had 28.

OH, THAT SMARTS! — Bill Walton grimmaces in pain as Portland Blazers trainer Ron Culp realigns two dislocated fingers in a recent game. The injury is the most recent in a long time of ailments suffered by the former UCLA super star.

Connors plays Lara in Davis Cup singles

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Jimmy Connors, the United States' tennis ace, opens against Mexico's Marcelo Lara in the first singles match of the 1976 North American Zone Davis Cup finals.

In today's other singles match, Brian Gottfried will play Raul Ramirez, who in 1975 beat Roscoe Tanner in the deciding match of the first round of Davis Cup.

The pairings for the five-match series were decided in a draw Thursday afternoon, delayed by 30 minutes because Ambassador John Jova, representing the United States, was delayed. The Mexican quartet was represented by Miguel Osuna, president of the Mexico Tennis Federation.

In Sunday's final two singles matches, the pairings will be reversed, with Gottfried vs. Lara and Connors vs. Ramirez.

Neither captain has yet disclosed who will play in the lone doubles match on Saturday.

Non-playing U.S. captain Tony Trabert does not plan to announce his doubles until the required one hour before the competition starts. Speculation, however, is that he will make workhorses of his two singles players, Connors and Gottfried, rather than going with Dick Stockton and Eric van Dillen.

Trabert took the hard choice Monday of substituting Gottfried for Harold Solomon, to whittle his team to the four required by the International Lawn Tennis Federation rules.

Roberto Chavez and Joaquin Loyo-Mayo complete the Mexican squad selected by captain Yves Lemaitre.

Explaining his selection, Trabert said earlier this week: "You've got to remember that Gottfried is frequently Ramirez' partner in doubles, and they're maybe the world's best. You obviously must be pretty good in doubles if you're half the best team in the world."

Gottfried said he has played doubles with Ramirez eight times.

After years of Davis Cup domination, the United States has been unable to get out of the American Zone first round the past two years. In 1974 they lost to Colombia 4-1 before bowing to Mexico in 1975.

"The team has virtually no problems," Trabert said after the draw, referring to play on Mexico's clay courts. "They have been playing on them month in and month out all over the world."

He also said the team "has become accustomed and is breathing very well" in Mexico City's 7,325-foot altitude. "We came early and we have been training persistently," he added. "We are in shape."

McCord sizzles at Via Verde

Riverside's Gary McCord, one of the 60 leading pros on the PGA tour, blistered the Via Verde Country Club course Thursday with a sparkling five-under par 67 to take the lead in the Southern California Open.

McCord, who won $40,199 in prize money on the tour last year, opened up a one stroke lead with a 137 two-day total. Craig Stadler and Alan Tapie are in second place with 138's. Both were red-hot on a perfect day for golf, Stadler firing a 68 and Tapie posting a 69.

Keith Lyford also shot a blazing 67 to finish the day at 139.

First day leader John Toepel faded to a 73 Thursday after an opening round of 67. His 36-hole total is 140. Four players — Doug McDonald, defending SC Open champ Jerry Barber, Dan Johnson and Denny Meyer — are tied at 141.

Wayne Searl leads the amateurs in the competition with a 144 total.

Strangest round of the day was shot by Don Pooley of Long Beach. Pooley struggled through a 10 on his first hole but played five-under par golf the rest of the way to finish with an ever par 72.

Rams vs. Steelers tops NFL schedule

By Associated Press

For those professional football fans who can't wait until next month, the National Football League will stage a little peek this weekend at what could be the Super Bowl matchup.

With little more than pride at stake, the Pittsburgh Steelers play the Los Angeles Rams Saturday night in a game matching division champions. The same two teams could wind up facing each other again Jan. 18 in the Orange Bowl when the championship of Pete Rozelle's 26-team world will be on the line.

The Pittsburgh-Los Angeles pairing is one of three Saturday games kicking off the final weekend of the NFL's regular season. In the others, Denver plays at Miami with the Dolphins needing a victory to keep their playoff hopes alive, and Buffalo entertains Minnesota, which may have something to say about the NFC side of the field in the Super Bowl.

In Sunday's action, New England plays at Baltimore, St. Louis is at Detroit, Kansas City visits Oakland, Dallas plays the Jets at New York, San Diego is at Cincinnati, Cleveland at Houston, Philadelphia at Washington, Atlanta at Green Bay, the New York Giants at San Francisco and Chicago at New Orleans.

Pittsburgh, the defending Super Bowl champion, has won 11 consecutive games in clinching the American Conference Central Division crown.

Los Angeles is working on a more modest streak of five straight victories. The Rams have allowed only two touchdowns in that stretch and LA has permitted only 132 points all year, the lowest total in the NFL.

Of course, 100-yard games and 1,000-yard seasons are old hat to Buffalo's O.J. Simpson. He has clinched another rushing crown with 1,760 yards but needs 243 more yards against Minnesota to match his single season record of 2,003 set in 1973. That might be out of reach for most runners, but O.J. has gained over 200 yards four times and he's not like most runners. Simpson's 8,066 career yards are fourth on the all-time list.

Meanwhile, Minnesota's Chuck Foreman and Fran Tarkenton are shooting for individual honors. Foreman is after an NFC triple crown. He leads in scoring with 108 points on 18 touchdowns and in receiving with 63 catches for 604 yards. But he's second in rushing with 985 yards, trailing Jim Otis of St. Louis, who has 1,007. Tarkenton needs two touchdown passes to break Johnny Unitas' NFL career record of 290.

Miami must win and then hope that either Baltimore or Cincinnati loses Sunday. Otherwise, the Dolphins will spend the post-season in front of television sets.

If the Colts lose to New England or the Bengals bow to San Diego, then Miami could squeeze into the playoffs. But if both teams win, the Dolphins are done, no matter how they do against Denver.

Norton risks shot at Ali in TV bout

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Ken Norton of San Diego, a top heavyweight boxing contender, will risk his chance for a title shot against champion Muhammad Ali, and fight Argentina's Pedro Lovell here Jan. 10 in a nationally televised 12-round bout, it was announced Thursday.

"As the top contender I cannot wait for things to happen even if it means taking risks," said Norton, 30, an ex-Marine and one of only two men ever to beat Ali.

"It's very true that the only thing I have to gain is being active. I feel I need the activity," he said.

That would leave out in the cold the winner of the George Foreman-Ron Lyle bout here Jan. 24.

Summers said the "total package" for the fight would be worth about $250,000 but declined to say specifically what each fighter would get. He said Norton's take would be "in six figures."

The fight will be televised live by CBS-TV, probably at 1:30 p.m. or 2 p.m. PST, depending on the network's schedule, Summers said.

Lovell, 29, said he now was feeling well after a recent series of physical ailments. He has a record of 16-1-1, including 14 knockouts, nine of them in the first round. The 6-foot-3, 218-pound Norton has a record of 34-3 including 27 knockouts.

"I haven't figured him (Lovell) out, he's a good puncher and a good technician. But I think I'm a pretty good puncher too," said Norton.

Lovell, 6-3, 204 pounds, said the bout was his big chance to advance in the heavyweight ranks.

Norton said that before a possible Ali fight he would consider fighting Foreman if a bout could be arranged.

Norton was beaten by Foreman in Caracas, Venezuela and said he had "never made excuses for that but I think I can beat him if we fought again."

Of Ali, Norton said, "I lost that close one to Ali but I also beat him and broke his jaw doing it. It's no disgrace dropping a controversial decision to the champion."

Kilmer OK following surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quarterback Billy Kilmer underwent successful surgery Thursday to repair his separated right shoulder and a broken bone in his left foot, the Washington Redskins said.

A spokesman for the National Football League team said the 36-year-old Kilmer was "resting comfortably" at Sibley Memorial Hospital following the one hour and 45 minutes of surgery.

Team physician Dr. Stan Lavine said Kilmer will be hobbled for three weeks and his shoulder will be in a sling for the same length of time. He will not be able to throw a football for at least eight weeks.

The Redskins end their season this Sunday at home to the Philadelphia Eagles.

Roberto Duran heavily favored

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Hard-punching Roberto Duran of Panama is an overwhelming favorite to retain his World Boxing Association lightweight title Saturday against little-known Leoncio Ortiz of Mexico in a scheduled 15-round fight that will be nationally televised in the United States.

Although the Duran-Ortiz bout is of international importance because of the 135-pound championship being at stake, the local fans appear more interested in a featherweight fight between two young Puerto Ricans, Andres Hernandez and Wilfredo Gomez.

Even though Ortiz is ranked second in the lightweight division, he is given little chance to win—or even go the distance—against Duran, who is called "mano de piedra" (stone hands) because of his powerful right hand.

On the other hand, Hernandez and Gomez are considered two of the top Puerto Rican fighters. Both are young—Hernandez is 22 and Gomez barely 20—and are considered heavy punchers. Hernandez has won more than 20 bouts while losing only three and Gomez has one draw and eight victories, all by kayoes.

Duran finished his hard training Thursday. He had a light workout scheduled for today. Ortiz, a left-hander, also finished his hard training Thursday.

Ortiz is not expected to have a weight problem, but Duran, beaten only once as a pro, reportedly is a little overweight. The fighters will weigh in early Saturday.

Ortiz, a bearded 26-year-old with very little experience outside of his native Mexico and no well known opponent in his 61-2-3 record, is confident of taking the title from Duran. But according to boxing experts his chances are slim.

The bout, to be aired live from San Juan on CBS Sports Spectacular, is scheduled to start at 12:30 p.m., PST.

Guts Ishimatsu of Japan is recognized as lightweight champion by the World Boxing Council.

Another 10-rounder between unbeaten, young heavyweight Larry Holmes of Philadelphia, who is 18-0, with all his victories by knockouts, and Bill Joiner of New Jersey, follows the Hernandez-Gomez match in the five-bout card at Roberto Clemente Stadium.

Mounties, Owls win in Chaffey JC Tourney

By PAUL CLICK
PB Correspondent

Terrific board play from the Mounties front line enable Mt. San Antonio College to defeat Glendale 68-58 Thursday, snapping a two game losing streak.

In late action Thursday, Citrus kept its consolation title hopes alive in the Chaffey Tournament by defeating Orange Coast 66-55, but Chaffey went down at the hand of the Grossmont Griffins, 83-73.

Today the Mounties tangle with Fullerton while Citrus takes on Grossmont in a 5 p.m. contest.

Tom Pokorski, Angel Santiago, and Duaine Harding pulled down a combined total of 35 rebounds as MSAC played well in disposing of the Vaqueros. Pokorski finished with 13 rebounds but Santiago was the top board man with 14. MSAC out rebounded Glendale 53-27.

MSAC trailed early in the first half but with 8:15 left in the half, Santiago scored to tie the score at 20-20. The Mounties went on to build a half time lead of three points at 29-26. Santiago scored many of his 10 points in the half on high lob passes which he speared under the hoop and proceeded to put in.

A tough MSAC defense kept the Vaqueros away from the hoop in the second half and caused them to fire erratic long jumpers which were snared by the Mountie forwards.

"We played a steady game," said coach Gene Victor. "It was a very even game both offensively and defensively for us."

The Vaqueros hung in the game but were just out matched on both the offensive and defensive boards. Their hopes of avenging an earlier loss to MSAC went down the drain as they could not hit their outside shots.

Santiago, besides leading the Mounties in rebounding, was their top scorer with 21 points. Harding followed Santiago's effort with 14 points and Brad Wise and Pokorski chipped in with eight points apiece.

Victor noted, "We're coming along slowly but we're going to be there by conference play."

Citrus behind the scoring punch of Paul Walls (20 points) and Sukie Melgonza (18 points) controled the first half in their victory over Orange Coast and went on to record a 11 point victory.

With a solid defense the Owls kept Orange Coast from driving to the hoop. Forced to shoot away at the basket from long distance proved fatal to the Pirates.

"We probably played our best game of the year defensively," said head coach Neil Edwards. "The key was our offside defense as we forced them to shoot from the outside."

Citrus, playing a bit more in control in the second half, passed the ball around for the open shot and outscored the Pirates by two.

Tournament host Chaffey fell out of the running for a consolation title as Grossmont used a patient offense which set up high percentage shots. Grossmont shot 54 per cent as they dropped 36 of 67 shots through the basket. Chaffey shot 42 per cent.

Chaffey hit its first three shots but then cooled down as they slugged it out most of the half with the Griffins. Grossmont took over the lead at 24-22 and they never trailed in the game again.

Chaffey's top point man was Brian Jacobs with 19 points. Kevin Davis also added 15 for the Panthers.

Six Poly grids make all-CCAA

Six Cal Poly players earned berths on the All-California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) football team announced today by the coaches.

Earning first team recognition are four defensive players and two from the offensive unit. They are defensive backs Tony Falls and Jim Poettgen, linebacker Jim Castanon and middle guard Matthew Taylor from the defense plus tight end Jay Johnson and offensive tackle Bobby Costeldia.

Castanon is a repeater from last year's All-CCAA squad. He is a senior as is Falls and Taylor. Johnson, Poettgen and Costeldia are juniors.

Poettgen led the national NCAA Division II statistics with 12 interceptions good for 156 return yards. He also earned honorable mention status on the Associated Press Small College All-America team.

Falls, who also played for Coach Andy Vinci at the University of San Diego, made the third team on the AP selections. Taylor, a transfer from USC, and Castanon, a co-captain, anchored Poly's tough defense against the run.

Costeldia (6-7, 300) a product of Garey High, was one of the Broncos' big offensive linemen. Johnson, a transfer from San Diego Mesa, caught 23 passes for 367 yards and five touchdowns.

Broncos earning honorable mention recognition were defensive tackle John Medlin, defensive end Damon Petta, defensive back Scott Sanders, center Steve Weiss, offensive guard Doug Fowler, wide receiver Teddy Myles, quarterback Leo Costa and tailback Ron Jones.

Champion UC Riverside landed 12 players on the first team in its final football season. UCR's Butch Johnson led the national Division II stats in receiving with 67 catches for 1,027 yards and eight TDs.

Garey High graduate Gary Davis was one of three Cal Poly SLO players to earn first team recognition. He rushed for 1,244 yards and 15 TDs on 364 carries.

Mike Grabowski

Upland swimmers among AAU leaders

Two Upland youngsters, 12-year-old Karen Kostoff and 11-year-old Mike Grabowski, are among the top AAU age-group swimmers in the country, according to the December issue of Swimming World Magazine.

Both youngsters are members of the Chaffey Aquatics Club and are coached by John Ries.

Karen, a seventh grader at Pioneer Junior High, is ranked fourth in the 100 meter backstroke based on her 1:12.47 minute clocking in the event. She is ranked fifth in the 50-meter backstroke with a time of 33.89 seconds.

Mike, a seventh grader at St. Joseph, Upland, has a 1:10.93 minutes clocking for the 100-meter backstroke to rank ninth.

The time was set in August at the Junior Olympics swimming championships in Long Beach.

The youngsters will take part in a qualifying meet at East Los Angeles College, Jan. 18. The top swimmers there will compete for the Southern Pacific Association of the AAU in a dual meet against northern California qualifiers.

Cavs, 'Pack suffer tournament defeats

By BRENT SHYER
PB Correspondent

AZUSA — Success in the Azusa High Basketball Tourney came to an abrupt halt for the Montclair Cavaliers. After winning their first game 67-54 Wednesday night, the Cavs found things a bit tougher in Thursday night's action, as they fell to San Marino's Titans 64-52.

Claremont's Wolfpack, another SAL entry, lost its second straight contest to Rosemead 55-52, and the 'Pack dropped out of the tourney scene completely.

Although neither Montclair nor San Marino had good shooting nights (26 of 63, 41% for the Cavs, 26 of 70, 37% for the Titans), the game was close for the first three quarters.

The Cavaliers had a balanced offensive attack, with the starting unit accounting for 48 of the 52 total points. Bruce LaVallee and Steve Hossler matched each other with 14 points. Scott Arthur and Darrin Pierce each contributed 10 points in the losing cause.

The game was well played as the turnover statistics would show: Montclair 12; Titans 8.

The Titans, who were a larger team in size, built a 18-12 at the end of one quarter. By the end of the first half they had increased that margin to 31-22.

With the help of some hot shooting by Hossler and Arthur at the start of the second half, the Cavs were able to come from behind, and then go ahead of the Titans 38-37, with 3:26 to go in the third quarter.

San Marino then outscored the Cavs 9-5, to own a 45-42 lead with the final frame to play. But as has been their unfortunate habit, Montclair could not get things going in the fourth quarter, and they were blown off the court 19-10 in that period.

The Cavs had 30 rebounds to the Titans 31. LaVallee pulled down 12 caroms from Montclair.

"We're about where I hoped we would be at this point of the season," said Cavs coach Landon Moore. "I have been experimenting — trying to find out who I'm going to have start. I like this tournament. It is relatively equal between teams, and it is fun."

Claremont may not have found the tournament such fun. The 'Pack, who many thought would be the "class" of the SAL this season, has not been able to get things rolling at this point in the year.

For the second straight game Derek Britton was the leading 'Pack scorer with 17 points. Dave Brigante was the only other Claremonter in double figures with 12 points.

Montclair will try to nab third place in the tourney tonight, as they will take on Charter Oak, a 56-54 loser to Gladstone, at 6:45 p.m. in the Azusa High Gym.

Prep basketball roundup

Jordan peps Vikes to victory

Garey High used the hot shooting of guard Kent Jordan to down University 76-67 Friday night and advance to the championship semifinals of the Laguna Beach Basketball Tournament.

Jordan poured in 34 points as the Vikings got past a stubborn University squad.

In another Laguna Beach Tourney result, Walnut fell to St. Monica 65-62 in overtime in a consolation bracket contest.

Bonita High scored a 90-83 consolation round win over South Pasadena in the Edgewood Tourney, but other tournament results were unfavorable for local schools.

Damien was eliminated from the Alhambra by Bell Gardens by a 83-74 score, while Chino fell by the wayside in the Edgewood Tourney with a 62-56 loss to Bishop Amat.

Jordan poured in 34 points for the Vikings in their win over a stubborn University squad. The victory gives Garey a 5-1 season mark and puts the school into the championship semifinals against a powerful Warren High squad.

The Vikes will play Warren (winner of two tourney games so far by big margins) tonight at 6 p.m. At Laguna Beach High, the winner advancing to Saturday night's tourney championship final.

It was pretty much a one-man show for Garey Thursday as Jordan had to shoulder most of the scoring duties after Viking star forward Gary Carpenter got into foul trouble. Carpenter eventually fouled out of the game, scoring 16 points prior to his exit.

Walnut didn't have it as pleasant against St. Monica. The Mustangs dropped their second overtime game in the tourney, as Jerry Dominguez paced the winners with 20 points.

Top Mustang scorers were Eric Spindler and Jeff Davis, both with 14 points. The loss drops the Walnut season mark to 3-5.

Walnut will have today off prior to returning to Laguna Beach on Saturday to play California High at 12 noon for ninth place honors in the tourney.

Bonita's Steve Sly went wild against South Pasadena, scoring 36 points. Sly had 22 of those in the first half, and 13 in a 29-point Bonita first quarter.

Teammate Aaron Bitran contributed 18 to the victory, giving the Bearcats a 4-3 season ledger. Bonita will square off against Bishop Amat today at 5 p.m. for the Edgewood Tourney consolation crown.

Amat eliminated Chino from the tourney field Thursday, as center Mike Dennis scored 26 points in the win. The Cowboys wasted the efforts of forward Jimmy Love, who hauled down 26 rebounds in the game and scored nine points. Chino is now 1-5 on the year.

Damien ran out of gas in the final quarter against Bell Gardens, as center Brett Brown and guard Bruce Crow combined to down the Spartans. Brown finished with 24 points while Crow added 20.

Mike Wetenkamp continued to impress for Damien, scoring 24 points. Guard Bill Duffy contributed 22 markers.

Upland also fell out of tourney play Thursday, as Apple Valley downed the Scots 52-50 in overtime in the Ramona Tournament.

Center Dave Holgate had 14 points for the Scots, but no one else tallied in double figures. The loss leaves Upland with a 0-5 record.

Leos back in action after 10-day layoff

La Verne College returns to basketball action after a 10-day layoff tonight.

The Leopards (4-2) travel to Riverside to play Cal Baptist (8-1). Meanwhile Claremont-Mudd (2-5) makes its home debut (Ducey Gym 8 p.m.) against Azusa Pacific (2-5).

Pomona-Pitzer is in Phoenix, Arizona. The Sagehens (2-5) meet Mesa St. College in the opening game of Grand Canyon College's tournament . . . Host Grand Canyon (8-0) meets Western Colorado at 9 p.m.

The losers of tonight's games play Saturday night at 7 p.m. for third place. The winners of tonight's clashes meet at 9 p.m. for the championship.

Grand Canyon, third-ranked nationally by Associated Press in the small college poll, is the defending national champion.

La Verne will not get much mileage from guard Stu Campbell in its game with Cal Baptist. Campbell suffered a badly sprained ankle in the Leos' last outing, a 103-70 victory over Cal Baptist.

"He'll be available," said coach Art Bias. "But the doctor said two weeks and there's no sense in having him aggravate the injury. He's been limping around practice pretty bad."

The Leopards have been in final exams and are not sharp. "I don't like what I've seen in practice the last few days," Bias remarked. "I just hope we can come up with a good effort tonight." We can't let them get their fast break going. We've got to control the tempo. That's the key."

The run and gun Lancers are averaging around 100 points a game. Their only loss was to Grand Canyon in Phoenix.

Claremont-Mudd has been a very cold shooting team. The Stags are averaging under 40 percent. In losing to Cal Baptist Monday night, they turned the ball over 34 times.

"We're going to have to pull ourselves together," said coach Dave Wells glumly.

APC will have Mike Lindberg, a 6-0 transfer from L.A. Valley college available tonight. Lindberg has just become eligible. The Cougars will get a 6-8 addition Saturday night in freshman center Brian Hovey from Ventura.

Over in Phoenix, Pomona-Pitzer has the momentum gained from a big win Tuesday night. The Sagehens reached the 100-point mark for the first time this season in a 100-92 win over L.A. Baptist.

Freshman Center Ed McFadden made this first start a big success. The 6-9 pivotman scored 16 points and had 10 rebounds. Brandon Boyd led the team with 33 points and 11 boards.

SIFFORD SETS PLANS

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C. (AP) — Charley Sifford, the first Negro on the PGA golf tour, has had a steady job since last March and plans to play only "five to seven" tour events in 1976. Sifford is the home pro at the Sleepy Hollow Golf Club, a municipal course in Cleveland.

Sifford tied Bill Collins of Purchase, N. Y., in the eighth annual Izod International Invitational tournament at Mid Pines here with a three under par 285.

Goose hunters take note

Honk, honk, pull over, mister goose hunter. You can't hunt Canada geese in the vicinity of the Salton Sea after sunset Sunday, Dec. 21.

This year the season closes Sunday in that part of District 22 in the Southern California zone. That includes the entire Salton Sea area, but not the Colorado River, where the Canada goose season closes with the general goose season on Jan. 4, as it does in the remainder of Southern California.

It has been the practice in the past few years to close the Imperial Wildlife Area and the Salton Sea National Wildlife Refuge early as a protective measure for the species because these hunting areas accounted for the major share of the take in Southern California.

The effect of the early closing has been lessened, however, because it has been possible to take Canada geese just outside the boundaries of the state and federal hunting areas. The different closing dates for continuous land and water areas also presented some enforcement problems.

For these reasons the early Dec. 21 closing was expanded to include the entire Imperial and Coachella valleys.

IT'S REAL AT MAMMOTH — Mammoth Mountain in the central Sierra (not shown on map) is the closest ski resort where southland skiers can enjoy their sport on real snow. Fair weather in southland mountains has forced resort operators to turn on snow machines. In the Big Bear area, Goldmine, Snow Summit and Snow Valley and Holiday Hill near Mt. Baldy have good skiing conditions on 6-24 inches of the man-made stuff, according to the Automobile Club.

Xmas gift for the angler

One out of every 10 people you know is an angler; another two or three probably wish they were.

More than 2,187,000 Californians bought fishing licenses last year. And an uncounted number of youngsters under the age of 16, who don't need licenses, joined the ranks of those who continue to find that fishing can provide just plain fun, bonus feasts for the family table and the pleasure of "getting away from it all" for a little while.

If you haven't completed your Christmas shopping and you're looking for a modestly priced gift that can give a full year of pleasure here's a suggestion: How about a fishing license for your son, daughter, husband or wife? In fact, if you gave everyone in the family a fishing license for Christmas, you'd be ready for those calm tides in early January or for a family outing to your favorite fishing spot.

Licenses for 1976 are now on sale at nearly every sporting goods store in the state as well as at Department of Fish and Game offices.

The basic $4 ocean fishing license can provide a full 12 months of healthy outdoor recreation for surf fishermen, ocean boat anglers and clam diggers.

For anglers who want to fish in other waters, addition of special angling stamps can open the way to fishing for trout or salmon, warm-water species such as largemouth bass and fishing from boats in the Colorado River. The inland waters stamp costs $2, the trout and salmon stamp is $3 and the Colorado River stamp is $2.

The entire package costs just $11, less than $1 a month if you buy it before Christmas, the DFG points out.

Licenses aren't the only bargains available to anglers, however. Fishing gear can cost as little — or as much — as you want to spend.

Firt-time or beginning anglers can find inexpensive rods, reels and other necessary tackle at their neighborhood sporting goods stores. On the other hand, fly fishing purists and deep sea anglers can find sophisticated tackle that will strain the budgets of all but the wealthy at stores that cater to the more advanced anglers.

One of the pleasant things about fhishing is that the youngster with a bamboo pole, a cork float and a worm on an old hook can have just as much fun as anyone else. Furthermore, there's almost always a more experienced person around to help teach him some of the finer points.

Everyone has learned the basics sometime, for as noted by Izaac Walton, patron saint of trout fishermen, in 1653 in The Compleat Angler

"As no man is born an artist,
So no man is born an angler."

Chino wins soccer tilt

Chino High pushed its season soccer mark to 2-0 Thursday afternoon with a 3-0 blanking of Ontario Christian.

Tony Gonzales scored two of the Cowboy goals while Edwin Marquez added a third.

Both teams will now take a week off before starting play in the Damien Tourney Dec. 27.

Seniors may apply for free licenses

Senior citizens who want to renew their free fishing licenses for 1976 can pick up the application forms at their nearest license agent, the Department of Fish and Game said today. The same application forms can be used by senior citizens applying for the first time for free licenses.

Nearly all bait shops and stores that sell fishing gear are designated license agents for the Department of Fish and Game.

In California, senior citizens are eligible for free fishing licenses providing:

— They are 62 years of age or older.

— They have been residents of California for the past five years.

— Their total monthly income does not exceed $250 a month if they are single or $500 a month if married.

Persons receiving aid to the aged under the Income Security Act also are eligible for free fishing licenses. These people must file for their free license on special forms provided by county welfare offices or by the Department of Fish and Game in Sacramento.

Senior citizens receiving free fishing licenses do not have to purchase additional stamps for fishing in inland waters or to fish for trout. If they fish from boats in the Colorado River the special Colorado River stamp is required, however.

Sports briefs

NEW YORK (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Los Angeles Lakers has replaced Detroit's Bob Lanier as the top vote getter among centers for the the Western Converence All-Star team, the National Basketball Association announced Thursday.

Jabbar has 25,596 votes to 23,376 for Lanier after two weeks of computerized fan balloting. Rick Barry of Golden State and Bob Dandridge of Milwaukee are the leading forwards for the West team and Nate Archibald of Kansas City and Kevin Porter of Detroit top the voting for guards.

Leading the Eastern Conference voting are center Bob McAdoo of Buffalo, forwards John Havlicek of Boston and Elvin Hayes of Washington and guards Walt Frazier of New York and Dave Bing of Washington.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Archie Griffin, all-time NCAA rushing leader from Ohio State, was named on Thursday as the 1975 recipient of the Maxwell Award for individual supremacy in college football.

The Bert Bell Award, the Maxwell Club's counterpart for professional football, went to Fran Tarkenton, who led the Minnesota's Vikings to another National Football Conference division title this year.

Griffin gained 100 yards or more in 31 consecutive games and carried the ball for a total of nearly three miles in his Ohio State career.

His closest competition for the Maxwell Award came from California's Chuck Muncie, Pitt's Tony Dorsett and USC's Rickey Bell.

Tarkenton finished ahead of Buffalo's O.J. Simpson, Cincinnati's Ken Anderson and Vikings teammate Chuck Foreman.

Tarkenton is just one touchdown pass shy of Johnny Unitas' National Football League record of 290 career TD tosses.

Griffin and Tarkenton will receive their trophies at a dinner Jan. 28.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sparky Anderson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, will receive the manager of the year award next month at the Kansas City Baseball Awards Dinner.

Anderson, who led Cincinnati to the World Series crown this year, was announced Thursday as the winner of the award, which is sponsored by the Royal Lancers booster club and the Kansas City chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Other award winners announced for the Jan. 25 dinner are George Brett and Dennis Leonard, the Royals' player and pitcher of the year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim Colbert has replaced Bert Yancey as player director on the Professional Golfers Association Tour Tournament Policy Board, Commissioner Deane R. Beman announced Thursday.

Yancey resigned because of illness. Colbert will serve through the annual membership meeting at the end of 1976.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns running back Cleo Miller was placed on the injured reserve list Thursday because of a problem with an Achilles tendon, a spokesman for the National Football League team said.

Miller has seen little action since an apparent injury during a 31-yard kickoff return a few weeks ago. But the team isn't sure just when the tendon injury occurred.

NEW YORK (AP) — Guard Earl Monroe of the New York Knicks is expected to miss Friday's game against the Boston Celtics because of stomach pains, according to the National Basketball Association club.

Monroe stayed behind when the club left for Boston Thursday. He was examined by an internist, Dr. George Weingarten, who prescribed rest and medication.

The Knicks said Monroe might be available for Friday night's game but more likely would return for Saturday's game in New York against the Chicago Bulls.

Muncie wins Voit Trophy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Running back Chuck Muncie of the University of California was named Thursday as the 1975 winner of the 25th annual W. J. Voit Memorial Trophy as the West Coast's outstanding collegiate football player.

Muncie captured 18 first place votes from a board of West Coast writers and sportscasters to four for Southern California's Ricky Bell and three for UCLA's John Sciarra.

On a 5-3-1 tabulation of points, Muncie had 109 to 49 for Sciarra and 44 for Bell, the only junior among the top three.

Muncie became the fourth California player to win the Voit award, preceded by Paul Larson in 1954, Joe Kapp in 1958 and Craig Morgon in 1964.

The California runner rushed for 1,460 yards in 1975 and posted 3,052 for his career. He also caught passes for 1,085 yards for a Cal record total of 4,137.

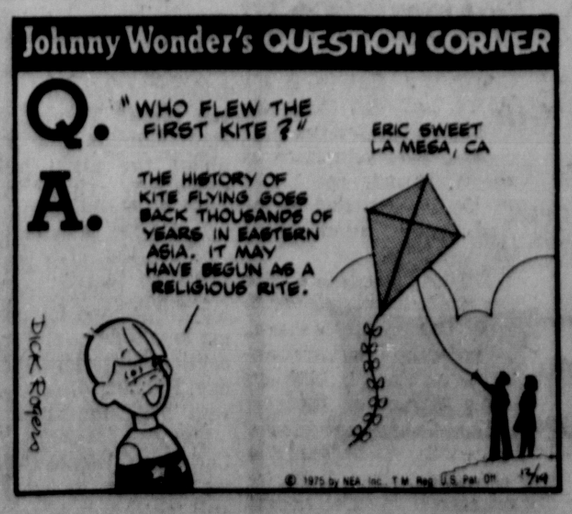
JOHNNY WONDER



No one knows for certain who flew the first kite. One tradition tells us kites were invented by the Greek scientist Archytas of Tarentum some 2,500 years ago, but kites may have been flown in Asia even before that. In China, kites have long been flown during important celebrations.

Kite flying may have begun as a religious rite. Today, flying kites is a popular pastime all over the world.

There are many kinds of kites. Some are quite simple, like the flat kite shown in our picture.

Others are more complicated and resemble such objects as boxes, stars and animals.

There are miniature kites only inches long and giant kites 10 or more feet long.

Most kites are made of lightweight wooden frames covered with paper. Often a cloth tail is used for balance.

A long string holds the kite steady, with its face slanted to the wind. The pressure of the wind pushing on the tipped face forces the kite to rise.

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061

Joyce Brothers

The feminine label

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I've been trying a lot of the suggestions that I've read in books recently about how to turn-on your husband by being more feminine and appealing. I even took a six-week course at a charm school in my community. While I found it interesting, it didn't do much for my husband or my marriage.

My first husband who died four years ago, always loved me just the way I was but this one wants me to change constantly. My first husband was older than I and he always thought of me as his 'little girl.' He loved to do things for me. Perhaps he spoiled me. I'm naturally very feminine. My husband claims to like this but actually he's always talking about and admiring women who work with him. To me, they are very aggressive and masculine. I'm confused and don't know what I should be! At the moment, I'm just very unhappy. — D.L.

Dear D.L.: Be yourself and don't worry about what society labels as feminine. This may not be easy for it sounds as if you haven't yet discovered who you are. Personally, I don't feel it's possible to love others or to truly please them until you've first learned to love and please yourself.

I'm aware of various programs that offer an approach to women's problems in which the woman is supposed to find her total fulfillment in the eyes of her mate. Most of these demand that the woman be subservient, servile and submissive and that she deny her own identity in favor of her husband's. To me, this is demeaning to both husband and wife, for a marriage that becomes merely an extension of teenage dating or romance, isn't conducive to expansion and growth for either partner.

Marriage isn't a game. Ideally, it is a union between two adults who respect each other, who share mutual interests and who are concerned with each other's fulfillment. In order for two people to meet in such a relationship, each should have an identity of his or her own and this identity should be accepted and respected.

Too much closeness, too much giving by either partner is apt to be destructive to the relationship for one of the two begins to lose himself or herself. A healthy, mature relationship cannot be based on the master-slave union.

The man who wants a child-bride or a totally dependent woman is himself almost always insecure, frightened and inadequate. He is apt to be the kind of man whose self-esteem is so low that he needs a woman to constantly bolster his ego. The woman who allows herself to become totally dependent is probably deeply threatened by any kind of liberation, for herself or others.

This dependency can be the result of a traumatic childhood experience, such as not being given enough affection or security. These women may seek in marriage what they never found in their home as children. Sometimes, the woman who was smothered in love as a child may want to hang on to this and may refuse to assume any responsibility as an adult. She may want everyone to treat her as if she were a helpless child.

I think it would be helpful to you, your husband and to the health of your marriage if you could get professional guidance now to help you find and get to know yourself. By learning to like and live with yourself, you will begin to respect yourself and the chances are that when this happens, your husband will begin to view you in a different way also. As you expand your interests and develop yourself, you will have more to add to your marriage and more to share with your husband.

If your Christmas card this year shows rabbits or mice, smells of ginger, bayberry or pine, features Bicentennial scenes or a nostalgic magazine cover, don't be surprised. Dick Horn, a Hallmark Cards executive, says his company's 1975 selection contains several innovations. Rabbits, of all things, are becoming a popular Christmas symbol, says Horn, "because they're soft and cuddly and convey a warm feeling of security." And the mice? They're from that famous old poem about the night before Christmas. Other cards this year heralding the Bicentennial show winter scenes of Concord Bridge, Old North Church and Valley Forge. And for nostalgia lovers there are reproductions of original Saturday Evening Post covers with brief messages like "Have a Merry Olde Christmas." Santa Claus is not forgotten, though. He's still the No. 1 secular Christmas symbol.

Wax finish needed for cork flooring

Holiday food and drink spills can be hard on unprotected wood and cork floors because they're porous and absorptive. "All such floors should have the protection of a sealer at all times," advises Leslie Wood, consumer information specialist for Johnson Wax. "If you're concerned that you may have a worn or chipped area it's advisable to check them."

She suggested putting a drop of water on suspected worn areas.

She pointed out that such floors should have the protection of a wax finish but sometimes white spots can appear after a waxing. "These normally are caused by unnoticed food spills, especially those with milk or sugar," she explained. "They're easily eliminated without having to re-wax the entire floor. Simply apply a cleaner/waxer such as Beautiflor with fine steel wool, rubbing gently with the grain, then buff immediately with a clean cloth to a hard, dry lustre."

Decorate with popcorn

Pop some corn and decorate. Make garlands for the tree and a special Christmas tree grove for the mantle or table in the home. There is no need to overspend, popcorn is an inexpensive treat.

Everybody can join in and each child can have his own small tree for eating and decorating.

1 package popcorn
1 cup sugar
½ cup corn syrup
½ cup water
¼ cup butter
½ package ice cream sugar cones

Prepare popcorn according to package directions. Pour into large pot or kettle. Heat sugar, corn syrup and water in small saucepan to 250-266 degrees or until a drop of syrup in cold water forms a hard ball. Remove from heat and stir in butter. Pour over popcorn and mix thoroughly with a wooden spoon. For a large tree, use small plastic flower pot as base. Roll heavy aluminum foil into cone; place and secure on bottom of flower pot to form tree shape. Use sugar cones for smaller tree forms. Shape popcorn mixture with buttered hands around form.

High risk

Clogs and platform heel shoes have caused sprains, fractures and contusions according to the American Podiatry Association. Such shoes increase the risk of accidental trips and falls, the Association warns. Studies report clogs to be more dangerous than platforms. Clog injuries occur from a loss of balance, or may be induced when a wearer attempts to twist her heel — causing it to come out of the shoe.

'The Night of the Iguana'

Williams drama at Ahmanson

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

"The Night of the Iguana," Tennessee Williams' implausible melodrama of storms south of the border, is given a strong and frequently moving presentation in the Center Theater Group production that opened Thursday night at the Ahmanson Theater of the Los Angeles Music Center. Even with a stellar cast, the play does not wrench the stomach or tug the heart strings, but it is a polished piece of theater that makes a rewarding evening.

A bearded Richard Chamberlain gives a suitably anguished characterization of the Rev. T. Lawrence Shannon, the reluctant rapist and neurotic. Chamberlain is alternately weak and violent, self-pitying and self-righteous, now playing the stud, now sucking his thumb like a baby, pitiful but not pitiable. His is a deft exhibition of the art of acting.

The redoubtable Dorothy McGuire brings her considerable talents to the spinster artist, Hannah, a role played by Margaret Leighton in the original Broadway production in 1961, and in the film by Deborah Kerr. Miss McGuire is winsome, funny, fine and brave, though in the early going she is so noble and saccharine that she edges close to cariacature.

A welcome antidote is provided by Eleanor Parker as the tough, bitchy, hungry Maxine, recently widowed, yearning for the decadent but attractive Rev. Shannon. It's a ripe role, and Miss Parker plays it to the hilt.

The fourth member of the all-star quartet is Raymond Massey, playing with warmth and good humor Jonathan Coffin, "the oldest (97) practicing poet in the world." Massey's abilities are not strongly challenged in evoking a persuasive portrait of this most senior of citizens, with intermittent flashes of the fine man he once was. (For Massey and Chamberlain the play is a reunion — they starred together in the TV series, Dr. Kildare, in the early '60s.)

Of interest to valley theatergoers is the appearance of Jennifer Savidge in the minor part of Hilda. Miss Savidge, like Chamberlain, is a graduate of Pomona College, where she studied under Andy Doe, Leonard Pronko and Jan Skotnicki of the Polish National Theater. She has little to do but race about in an incredibly brief bikini, but she does it very well.

"Iguana" is directed by Joseph Hardy with power and imagination. H. R. Poindexter's sets are beautiful and authentic — "Fan-TAS-tic!" as the Rev. Shannon is fond of saying.

"Iguana" plays at the Ahmanson through Jan. 31.

GOD BLESS US ALL — Bob Zanowic, as one of the charity men, gives his blessing to Charles Ross as Tiny Tim in the Circle Productions' "SCROOGE!" opening at 8 o'clock tonight in the auditorium of Webb School, Claremont. The musical by Christopher Trussell will also be presented at 2:30 and 8 p.m. Saturday, and at 8 p.m. next Friday and Saturday.

Polar lights

Polar lights, known as Aurora Borealis or Northern Lights in the northern hemisphere and Aurora Australis in the southern hemisphere, are caused by electrical solar discharges in the upper atmosphere.

$50 payment

The Tax Reduction Act of 1975 provided for a one-time payment of $50 to every individual who received a Social Security benefit for March 1975.

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

Two events stand out in my mind as I think back over the week, and I want to thank Sally Gillam for bringing Adrian's folksingers to my attention. She's an area artist displaying her work at Adrian's in downtown La Verne. (Plug)

To my knowledge, Adrian's is the first to offer folksinging on a regular basis in the Pomona Valley. (If I'm wrong on this, I shall be happy to make amends to the offended party or parties.) If YOU like folksinging, I think you'll love Judy and Steven, the youthful pair of entertainers Adrian Enriquez showcases on weekends at his place at 2337 D. Street, La Verne.

I was particularly impressed with Judy's voice, clear and sweet. She's a Joni Mitchell sound-alike and the audience responded to her soft and delicate interpretations with attentive stillness. And Steven's guitar work was great . . . sensitive or rambunctious as the occasion demanded. I enjoyed their light-hearted rendition of a 17th century Sailor's Song which featured Steven and his Tin Whistle, one of an arsenel of instruments the pair uses in their performance. The evening spent with these youngsters who love to share their music with appreciative people passed too quickly. But they'll be there tonight and Saturday from 9 to 1.

Adrian's, by the way, just opened in November. A complete re-do of a former food market, the new business combines a sandwich-beer-wine bar with an arts and crafts gift shop featuring the works of area artists.

Shane is alive and well, and is working at the Jolly Roger in Montclair Plaza! This is probably common knowledge among Shane Dominic followers, but it was a pleasant surprise for me. Like many of you, I had enjoyed going to his Casa Dinero in Cucamonga a couple of years back and dancing to his group, "Shane." Ever since he closed there, I've wondered where he might turn up. He's been working as a single lately and has played a couple of Las Vegas dates. He's been at JR's Buccaneer Room for about two months and is trying to talk the management into installing a dance floor for New Year's Eve. Drop in and see him. He's there Tuesday through Saturday nights.

AROUND AND ABOUT

. . . Martin Arrachea is off and running in his new Pyrenees French and Basque Restaurant in Chino. He opened last weekend and features basque cooking in semi-family style service. The restaurant is located at 13390 Central . . .

Progress Bulletin Weekend!

RESTAURANT AND NIGHT LIFE

. . . "N" Good Company's bringing a blockbuster to Ontario tonight! "El Chicano" (Tell Her She Is Lovely, Brown-Eyed Lady and other hits) will let it loose tonight and Saturday at the 831 E. Holt Blvd. night club for young adults. The management of this relatively new club is trying to bring some top-flite entertainment to the area. On tap for New Year's Eve is "Dr. Hook and the Medicene Show" . . .

. . . Paul Hsu has some novel gift ideas in the lobby of his Phoenix restaurant in Montclair. (Who says Chinese food isn't filling, by the way?) He displays authentic Chinese lanterns, globes and figures in the 9645 Central Ave. restaurant in addition to a beautifully crafted screen or room divider inlaid with figures of jade and ivory . . .

. . . Plans are well underway for a number of New Year's Eve parties planned in valley nite spots. So I guess we'd better start making some plans for that evening (WEEKEND! will help you select), but before it slips by me . . . I want to wish you all a very Merry Christmas.

PIZZA TO GO is Bob Steadman's bag. He's manager of Pomona Pizza Hut at 320 E. Foothill. Although take-out orders are a big part of the business, the firm provides ample inside seating in its three Pomona area locations. Other Huts are in Ontario . . . 142 No. Mountain and 1202 No. Grove.

SHANE SINGS the current hit, "Feelings" during stint at Jolly Roger in Montclair Plaza. You can hear him Tuesday through Saturday evenings in the restaurant's Buccaneer Room.

ST. LUCIA'S BREAKFAST tradition is observed by Sally Cyr (right) as she breaks Pfefferkooker (ginger cookie) to get her wish during Griswold's observance of the Swedish custom last Sunday. Waitress and acting "Lucia" of the day is Helen Mc Cabe. Griswold's will again commemorate St. Lucia's Day this Sunday.

The Move To Impeach Santa

Chapter Ten
By ROBERT J. BOYLE

Juniperperper was up before dawn on the second day of Santa's impeachment trial. He leaned over to Jinkersnipes' bed and shook him.

"Hey, lazy bones, get up," he laughed. "We have a lot of work to do today."

Rubbing the sleep from his eyes, Jinkersnipes replied, "Why so early?"

"Evel Whone had Herr Humbugg on the stand yesterday and I bet a million that he will put Hal D. Lemon on the stand today," Juniperperper said.

"Who is he?" Jinkersnipes asked.

"He's a meanie who really doesn't like Santa," Juniperperper said.

"What made him so sour?" asked Jinkersnipes.

"Well he was just a tart when he came to the North Pole and wanted to be an elf for Santa," Juniperperper explained. "Well Santa gave him a gift and told Hal D. Lemon to come back in a few years."

She smiled and winked.

"That's what Santa always does," Jinkersnipes explained.

"Yes, I know," Juniperperper replied. "But Hal D. Lemon became angry. He called Santa an old fattie and threw three Christmas balls at him."

"My, my and my," Jinkersnipes said. "What did Santa do?"

"He, of course, gave Hal D. Lemon a bad mark," Juniperperper replied." And that Christmas Hal D. Lemon got coal in his stocking."

"He deserved it," Jinkersnipes said. "But I bet he was a better behaved boy the next year."

"You would think so, wouldn't you," Juniperperper replied. "But he wasn't. He really turned sour. He misbehaved all year and even his parents couldn't do a thing with him. They punished him but it did no good. As he grew older he continued to be just as mean. He then went to work for Evel Whone and has had it in for Santa all these years."

"But what can he testify to?" asked Jinkersnipes.

"I think he will try to prove that Santa has a monopoly on Christmas," Juniperperper said. "Because a few years ago Hal D. Lemon wanted to handle Christmas gift giving for boys and girls."

"He did?" Jinkersnipes asked.

"Yes, but he had it all backwards," Juniperperper explained. "Hal D. Lemon wanted to give toys and gifts to bad boys and girls and the good boys and girls would get potato peelings or coal."

"My, my, what a silly idea," Jinkersnipes replied. "What happened?"

"Well the Committee of the North which includes the Magic Snow Princess, The Tooth Fairy, Jack Frost, Mother and Father Nature and Santa, ruled against Hal D. Lemon's plan," Juniperperper explained. "This made him very angry. He still is."

"Then you think he will testify against Santa today?" Jinkersnipes asked.

"I'm sure he will," Juniperperper replied. "But let's order breakfast and then study a while before we head for the UN."

The elves called room service and had a breakfast of peachie peaches on crispy crisps, hot chocolate with snowmellons, Canadian bacon and eggs.

After breakfast they read the Law Review for an hour and then took a taxi to the UN.

And, Juniperperper was right. The first witness called by Evel Whone was Hal D. Lemon.

Evel Whone asked him, "And you say you were denied the opportunity to have your own Christmas gift giving?"

"That is correct," Hal D. Lemon replied.

"Did Santa vote against you?" Evel Whone asked.

"Yes-he did," Hal D. Lemon replied.

Turning to the members of the UN, Evel Whone said, "Ladies and Gentlemen, this proves that Santa wants a monopoly on Christmas. Here we have a poor, sincere elf who wants to provide toys at Christmas to children and Santa, with the help of the Committee of the North, refused to allow him to do this — the very same thing that Santa does."

Evel Whone, smiling with an evil smile, turned and walked back to the prosecution table.

"I object," Juniperperper said. "Evel Whone is giving false information."

"You may question the witness," Dag Whood said.

"I just have a few questions for this witness," Juniperperper said. "He will have to tell the full story."

Turning to Hal D. Lemon, Juniperperper said, "Mr. Lemon, I know you wanted to give toys to boys and girls at Christmas."

"That is true," Hal D. Lemon replied.

"Please let me finish the question," Juniperperper said. "Now how did you plan to do this?"

"Oh, I'd get a sleigh, some elves to work for me and some reindeer," Hal D. Lemon testified.

"Now tell me, isn't it true that you planned to give toys to bad boys and girls and give potato peelings and coal to good boys and girls," Juniperperper asked.

A shocked Hal D. Lemon said, "How did you know that?"

"Then it is true?" Juniperperper said.

Evel Whone jumped up and cried, "I object, I object."

The judge ruled, "Objection overruled. Please answer the question Hal D. Lemon."

His eyes downcast, Hal D. Lemon said, "Yes it is true. I did plan to give toys to bad boys and girls and potato peelings to good boys and girls."

Juniperperper smiling said, "No more questions."

He then turned to the members of the UN and said, "Ladies and gentlemen, I ask you. Did you ever hear of anything so silly? Giving toys to bad boys and girls is beyond the meaning of Christmas. Now you know why Santa and the Committee of the North ruled gainst Hal D. Lemon."

Juniperperper could see it in the eyes of the delegates that they agreed with him.

He glanced up toward the balcony and saw Julia June looking down at him.

She smiled and winked.

Suddenly Juniperperper felt 10 feet tall.

Liquor clerk shot to death

TORRANCE (AP) — A 67year-old liquor store clerk was shot to death in what Torrance police said apparently was an attempted holdup.

Investigators said the body of Thomas Levier was found sprawled at the back of a Western Avenue liquor store Thursday night.

Police said money was scattered around the store and there was no immediate indication of how much had been taken.

Unruh supports campaign financing idea

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The state should pay political candidates equitably instead of allowing unlimited private contributions, says State Treasurer Jess Unruh.

"You have given them (politicians) no alternative but to seek money which is sometimes viewed as tainted," Unruh told the Committee on Elections and Reapportionment on Wednesday.

But he said he sees a "curb on corruption" in political campaigns if proposed legislation, AB2564 by Assemblyman Howard Berman, D-Sherman Oaks, is enacted.

The treasurer said one provision of Berman's bill strengthens a challenger's position by allowing him full access to scrutinize an incumbent's records, which he said is not done sufficiently now.

The measure, which sets a limit for private contributions of $250 each for statewide candidates and $100 each for regional legislative candidates, was partly developed by Common Cause, a public-interest advocacy group.

The state would triple the amount a candidate raises from private sources, Unruh said, adding the measure would prevent a "mismatch" in districts where one political party dominates the other, making it more difficult for the minority party to raise adequate funding.

The bill puts a lid on campaign expenditures, as well, with a challenger allowed 10 per cent more than an incumbent.

Common Cause's state director, Scott Fitz-Randolph, conceded the measure favors incumbents somewhat with its spending ceiling.

"There's no way you can balance off incumbency, but you can make an attempt at it," said Fitz-Randolph. "We think if you give a challenger a sufficient amount of money, he can make a good run at the incumbent."

Whetmore report proper

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sen. James E. Whetmore, a Buena Park Republican who will leave office next year, correctly reported his campaign contributions in September, the state's political reform commission says.

The Fair Political Practices Commission, which said it will take no action against Whetmore in the case, reported its finding in a statement Wednesday.

Walter J. Smith of Orange filed the complaint against Whetmore. Smith said the legislator told a group of Young Republicans he had received cash and pledges of $100,000 to run for re-election.

Smith filed his complaint after Whetmore and his committees listed only about $4,000 and no pledges in a campaign report.

The commission statement quoted Whetmore as telling the commission's investigators the "pledges" he referred to were informal, not enforceable promises to pay.

Last week Whetmore became the fourth Republican state senator to announce he would not run for re-election next year.

Yule tree thefts damaging forests

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Modern Fagins are making millions of dollars and damaging young forests throughout the West in the increasingly lucrative racket of Christmas tree thefts, U.S. Forest Service officials say.

Organized tree-theft rings, often using teenagers to do the cutting, may make three or four times the profit margin legitimate operators receive, the officials say.

While skyrocketing prices for Christmas trees have made the thefts increasingly profitable, forest officials say they are developing sophisticated techniques to apprehend the thieves. There have been nearly a dozen persons convicted in Utah alone in the last few weeks.

One southwestern Utah ring was suspected of stealing up to 40,000 trees per year from Utah and eastern Nevada, netting up to $250,000.

"One problem is people think a tree is just a tree. Some trees are almost irreplacable," says Ralph Dyment, Forest Service law enforcement officer for Utah, Nevada and part of California.

"It breaks your heart to see a crop destroyed that's been commercially thinned and cultivated for 15 years," says Shorty Wehking of Wasatch National Forest in Utah.

The thefts are from lands belonging to the U.S. Forest Service, Bureau of Land Management, state and private owners. The Forest Service headquarters in Washington says tree theft figures for the nation have not been compiled, but a central reporting system is planned for next year.

Intermountain region officials, after talking with other Forest Service people, believe the thefts are concentrated in those areas in which trees are more easily accessible later in the year.

Thus tree rustling problems are believed not as severe in Colorado and Wyoming as in Utah but more severe in Washington and Oregon and possibly in Arizona and New Mexico.

Easy accessibility to forests from metropolitan areas seems to increase the problem, while states having laws requiring bills of sale or tagging of Christmas trees — such as Nevada and Idaho — appear to have less trouble.

Pat Sheehan, information officer for the Forest Service's intermountain region, says that in Oregon, one forest alone, the Willamette, suffered a loss of trees worth $500,000 in one year.

Dyment says a legitimate commercial operation may have to pay about $3 per tree for permits to harvest better quality trees, then sell them to retailers for about $5, making about $1 per tree after expenses. He says an illegal operator may pay youngsters $1 per tree they cut, then sell it to retailers for $5.

There is no way a customer can tell whether he's buying a stolen tree, Dyment said. He said the thieves also trade trees with thieves from other regions because trees less common to an area bring higher prices.

A legitimate operator will be allowed to harvest, for example, 300 trees of a stand of 2,000, a thinning operation in which the Forest Service forbids the opeator to take the best trees. The crooked operator takes every tree from an area, the service says.

The illegal operation often devastates a 15-year-old timber crop. It may damage aesthetics of campgrounds where the trees had been intended to provide seclusion between camping sites.
